Hoover: Put P.O. Out of US Politics

Postmaster General Should Have No Part in Party Setups

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Hoover Commission said today the Post Office Department should be taken out of politics.

The postmaster general, it said, should not be allowed to head a national political committee, and the postmasters throughout the country should be career men chosen from within the postal service and not subject to confirmation by the Senate.

These were the highlights of a report to Congress by the 12-member commission Congress created last year to report on organization of the executive branch of the government. Former President Herbert Hoover is chairman.

The report on the Postoffice Department was the fourth of more than 15 due to reach Congress by March 13.

These eight things were listed by the commission under the heading of "What is wrong with the post office?"

A. The administrative structure is obsolete and overcentralized.

B. A maze of outmoded laws, regulations and traditions freezes progress and stifles proper administration.

C. The post office "lacks the freedom and flexibility essential to good business operation."

D. Rates have not kept pace with wages and other costs, and ratemaking machinery is inadequate.

E. The service is used to hide subsidies.

F. Political appointments of first, second and third class postmasters and certain other officials produces inefficiency "and militates against the incentives of promotion."

G. Methods of budgeting, accounting and appropriation are unsuited to a business of the size and character of the postal service.

H. Recurring annual operating deficits have been caused by circumstances "mostly beyond the control" of the department "and can be remedied only by strong and courageous action."

Remedies Are Offered

The commission offered these remedies to correct the faults it found:

The postmaster general should continue as a cabinet member appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, but should not be an official of a political party. (The present postmaster general, Jesse M. Donaldson, is a career postal official and is not head of a political party. Some of his predecessors have been chairmen of the Democratic and Republican national committees.)

An experienced executive, preferably chosen from the service, should be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate as director of posts. He would be the operating head of the post office. The postmaster general would be determine departmental and public policies.

The postal service should be decentralized into 15 regions under regional directors and district superintendents.

Confirmation of postmasters by the Senate should be abolished and "the post office should be taken out of politics." An estimated 2,000 postal employes "are in fact politically appointed," and

Army Sentences Man to 20 Years In Munich Trial

Neither Charge, Testimony Is Revealed; Was First of 20 Now Being Tried

Munich, Germany, Feb. 17 (AP)—The U. S. army, partially lifting a heavy veil of secrecy from a spy trial, today publicly sentenced Frontisek Klecka, 31-year-old waiter on the Orient Express, to 20 years at hard labor.

The eight-man U. S. military commission, ordered by Gen. Lucius D. Clay to relax its secrecy, made known the name of the first defendant and invited the press to hear the verdict—but it did not reveal the specific charge against Klecka.

Neither would it disclose any details of the testimony taken in the past two days behind locked doors. The proceedings concern a Czechoslovak spy ring case.

But Brig. Gen. John L. McKee, head of the military commission hearing the case, refused to reveal Klecka's nationality. The 20 persons arrested last November on charges of spying for Czechoslovakia were of several nationalities.

The verdict in Klecka's case, first of the 20 to be tried, was disclosed on army orders from Frankfurt.

The trials still will be held in secret, however.

When the trial began yesterday, the eight-man military commission hearing the case refused to say how many persons were being tried, would not reveal any names and said even the verdict would not be announced.

Clay last night began an investigation to see if such super-secrecy really was necessary to protect the security of the United States.

Today's order to reveal the names and verdicts was given by Maj. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chief of staff of army ground forces in Europe. It was to him that Clay directed his request for full information on the trial's secrecy.

Only two of the five trials were to be conducted in secret.

Taylor's order to the commission said:

"With respect to the two cases

Brain Trust Is New E.R.P. Plan

19 Area Representatives Meet in Paris, Seek Swift Revival

Paris, Feb. 17 (AP)—High-ranking representatives of 19 European Recovery Program areas agreed today to set up a brain trust to speed the revival of this continent.

Foreign ministers, economic ministers and top officials of the areas met for more than two hours on the recommendations of a special ministerial committee. They agreed to set up an executive council of cabinet rank, headed by Paul-Henri Spaak, premier and foreign minister of Belgium.

In the new body—its formal name is Executive Council of the Organization for European Economic Recovery (O.E.E.C.)—will be ministers of cabinet rank from Britain, France, Italy, Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey.

The 19 representatives acted unanimously on the recommendation of the special ministerial committee that the O.E.E.C. be given more authority in mapping a coordinated long range recovery program. The representatives then scheduled a second meeting to take up minor changes in the O.E.E.C. structure as recommended by Robert Marjolin, the O.E.E.C. general secretary.

Spaak, who had been titular head of the O.E.E.C. general council since its formation more than a year ago, now heads a group which will have a larger say in the future operations of the organization. Spaak is preparing a statement of policy.

One of the top problems facing the organization now is that of French-British trade. British

Prominent at Broadway Crossing Hearing

Among those present in the city court room yesterday when the city received definite, first-hand information that the Broadway crossing elimination project is a reality in the process of starting were, left to right: George Moore, Harry Rigby, Jr., E. B. Hughes, director, State Bureau of Rights of Way and Claims; Robert W. Case, president of the Central Business Men's Association; J. B. McMorran, chief engineer, State Department of Public Works; E. I. McCaffrey, consulting engineer; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, G. L. Flewelling, senior land and claims adjuster; H. G. Krom, assistant state highway engineer; A. R. Erskine, assistant district engineer; F. E. Smith, bridge engineer; James S. Bixby, district engineer, and Harry Walker. (Freeman Photo)

Official Says Wicks, Mayor Doing Utmost; Asks Help for Moore

Hughes, Bixby Declare State Gave Tenants All Possible Consideration; From That Point Project Becomes One in Public Interest

Kingston today is assured that the Broadway grade crossing will be eliminated.

State emphasis on the reality of the project came at least threefold yesterday in the city hall at a meeting arranged by the Central Business Men's Association, and it ended doubts of 30 years duration.

Facts stressed by state officials were:

1. That the state plans to proceed with property acquisition within days—"not weeks or months."

2. Construction is expected to be under contract by summer.

3. Relocation of tenants is considered definitely a local problem at this point.

4. The project is expected to be completed in a year or 18 months after it is started.

5. That a heavy statewide competitive demand for public projects would mean a long delay if it were not done at this time.

Obstacles Mean Nothing

Most emphatic in expressing the state's determination to proceed with the project was E. B. Hughes, director of the Bureau of Rights of Ways and Claims, who declared:

"You may find all the obstacles you want and talk about them, but the job is going ahead." He was among state officials who accompanied J. B. McMorran, chief engineer of the state public works department, on the trip here to explain details of the project to property holders, merchants, local officials and others interested.

Other officials were Gerald L. Flewelling, senior land and claims adjuster; A. R. Erskine, assistant district engineer; F. E. Smith, bridge engineer; James S. Bixby, district engineer of Poughkeepsie, and Harry G. Krom, Ulster county district assistant, who is stationed in Kingston.

Hughes, who was the first introduced to the crowd which filled the city court room, by Robert Case, president of the Central Business Men's Association, emphasized that "some of you are going to be hurt and hurt badly, but the job is going ahead."

The state started on acquisition of property prior to the war, Hughes said. The project was held up because of the war and immediately after the war contractors were not interested in bidding.

Bids Are No Problem

This form of hinderance is now eliminated, he said, and last month the state received bids on every project advertised. For this reason, he stressed, the local project "is again active" but the state cannot proceed without acquisition of the land.

The land is to be acquired, he revealed, "not in weeks or months, but within days." He was then asked if he could give a "better timetable" on the project, and replied that the state will act as soon as maps are filed in the country clerk's office.

That will be done he said, "as soon as possible—it may be the end of February or the first of March." He suggested that those who felt they might suffer any losses, make preparations as early as possible for the state's action.

Engineer McMorran was asked when the project was expected to start and replied: "We hope to have it under contract this summer."

Herman Rafalowsky, clothier, whose store is in the affected area asked what would happen in the event of delays on the bidding and contract, and was informed by Hughes, that "the job is going ahead somehow."

Asks Help for Moore

Hughes also stressed that George W. Moore, local realtor, has been assigned to assist local tenants and property owners in relocating, and he urged all con-

Huge Grain Stocks May Be Moved in Flood-Threat Area

Columbia, Missouri, Rio Valleys May Suffer From Thundering Runoffs

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Agriculture Department warned today that this winter's heavy snows in the west may create devastating floods when they melt this spring.

The possibility of heavy overflows was seen in the Columbia, Missouri, and possibly the Rio Grande river valleys.

Officials said some states and local government units already have started making plans for flood emergencies.

The department itself is drawing up plans to move millions of bushels of grain out of the path of possible floods. It is interested particularly in saving grain which has been stored under its price support program. This grain is collateral for loans which have been advanced to farmers.

The warning of possible damaging floods is based on department snow surveys in 11 western states and in British Columbia. The surveys did not cover the plains states, but the department said there is danger of flash floods of considerable extent to such areas as North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska.

Melting Is Factor

Whether there will be serious floods will depend, the department said, on timing of the melting snow.

Ordinarily, the lower valley snows melt and run off first, followed by melting of snow in the mountain meadows, and finally by the late-season melt of snow up on the mountain peaks.

"If this normal progressive melting should take place, there very well might be no troublesome flooding," said George D. Clyde, of Logan, Utah, chief of the department's irrigation and water conservation division.

"But should the melting occur at the same time in the lower and higher areas, serious floods during the snow melting period may result."

If the snow melt comes late, there's an additional danger that Europe Still Hopes Pact Will Be Agreed Upon by U.S.

Diplomats Will Urge Some Reference to Military Action

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Western European nations were reported still hopeful today of obtaining American agreement to some open promise of military support in the proposed North Atlantic security treaty.

Diplomatic informants predicted that when the Europeans next meet with Secretary of State Acheson they will again press on this point.

They are seeking to include in the defense clause of the treaty the clearest possible statement of unity of the forces of the west against any future aggressor.

They are expected to urge on Acheson some reference at least to the possibility of military action by all of the members of the security organization in event of an attack.

It is understood that, provided the "military" reference was subordinate to other kinds of action along diplomatic and political lines, Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) would have no personal objection to the wording.

Vandenberg's concern is reported to be with the idea that the treaty should conform strictly to the spirit of the United Nations charter in which military action is listed as the last of many steps to be taken in stopping or preventing an aggression. The senator's position is important because of his leadership among Republicans on foreign policy.

Acheson himself indicated yesterday that the problem is largely one of wording rather than a question of intent.

He told a news conference that there are no real differences between himself and Senate leaders "in regard to the objectives which this government is seeking to accomplish."

He then cited President Truman's inaugural speech. In it Mr. Truman declared the purpose of the alliance is to discourage any future aggressor by confronting him with the certainty that if he attacked he would be met with "overwhelming force."

The major difficulty in making a completely explicit statement of this purpose in the treaty arises, officials say, from the constitutional provision that only Congress has the power to declare war.

Along with this is the immediate and practical political problem of drafting, in a manner acceptable to the Senate, whatever commitments the United States government may be willing

Weizmann Takes Inaugural Oath

Becomes President of First Jewish State in 2,000 Years

Jerusalem, Feb. 17 (AP) — Dr. Chaim Weizmann, 74-year-old elder Jewish statesman, was inaugurated today as the first president of the new state of Israel.

His right hand raised, the president of the first Jewish state in 2,000 years, solemnly intoned:

"I, Chaim Ben Ozer Weizman, as president of the state, swear allegiance to the state of Israel and its laws."

Thousands of spectators cheered, shouting "long live the president," as Dr. Weizmann drove through the streets of the Holy City to the ceremonial session of the assembly. He had been provisional president since May, when the British surrendered their League of Nations mandate and Israel proclaimed herself an independent nation.

With a silver scissors, the president cut a blue and white ribbon across an arch of welcome at the entrance to the city. Mayor Daniel Auster gave him a golden key to the city. School children handed boquets to Mrs. Weizmann.

In the long procession of cars were members of a parliamentary delegation, including an Arab member from Nazareth who wore flowing white keffiyeh headdress. The delegation had driven to Weizmann's home at Rehovot to inform him of his election by Parliament and to escort him back to Jerusalem. The escort included police motorcyclists, an armored car with gun turret and a squad of combat jeeps with steel-helmeted soldiers manning machine-guns.

Dr. Weizmann, a pro-westerner and outspokenly anti-Russian, was formally inaugurated before the 120-man assembly with pomp and ceremony in the Jewish Agency building near the old walled city. The old city is still held by Arab legion forces as an aftermath of the fierce fighting that accompanied the birth pains of the new nation.

Dr. Weizmann is expected to

Bulgaria Receives Bill to Close All Foreign Missions

Proposal Also Would Make Church Separate From State; Greek Form Is Cited

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Bulgarian Parliament received today a bill which would require all foreign religious missions in Bulgaria to close within a month. Their property would be confiscated.

The measure, which declares that "all citizens of the people's republic of Bulgaria are ensured freedom of conscience and religion," was introduced by Foreign Minister Vassil Kolarov only a few hours after the government announced that Feb. 25 has been fixed for the trial of 15 Protestant leaders. They are accused of treason, espionage and black market money dealing.

Kolarov's proposal would make the Greek Orthodox Church the "traditional" and "only people's democratic church" in Bulgaria. It would bar from the clergy and church office non-citizens of Bulgaria and would give the foreign minister tight control over any international connections by clergymen or church officers.

Kolarov's bill says "the church is separate from the state."

It declares the Orthodox Church is the "traditional religion of the Bulgarian people, connected with Bulgaria's history and in form, meaning and spirit can be the only people's democratic church."

The bill also said the various churches in Bulgaria can introduce uniform vestments for their clergymen, but they are not obligatory outside religious services.

The measure states that clergymen and church officers, "no matter what cult," shall be Bulgarian citizens who have not been deprived of their rights by criminal law.

Philadelphia Still In Transit Muddle

Negotiations at Standstill in Bus, Trolley Strike; No Taxi Settlement

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP)—Negotiations in Philadelphia's week-old transit strike were at a standstill today and the end of a city-wide walkout of taxicab drivers was not yet in sight.

Millions of trolley, bus, subway and taxi riders got to work again as best they could while police stood by to prevent a recurrence of yesterday's violence in which three motorists were beaten.

An all-women grand jury—first in the city's history—was summoned to special session by Judge Vincent A. Carroll.

The jurist told the jurors to "remain always ready, day or night if need be, to give immediate preference over all your other affairs to the hearing and action upon such matters as may properly come to your attention involving crimes arising out of the present situation."

A conference between representatives of the Philadelphia Transportation Company and the C.I.O.-Transport Workers Union ended abruptly last night.

National T.W.U. President Michael J. Quill, walked out of the office of Federal Mediator John Murray, announcing that negotiations had been broken off.

Despite Quill's statement, however, Murray said he was hopeful of bringing the two factions together again today, possibly after an 11 a. m. news conference announced by Quill.

After leaving last night's meeting, Quill told reporters "we

Republicans Expect Passage of Budget Without Any Big Changes; Hearing Held

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—Republican legislative leaders today predicted passage without major change of Governor Dewey's record-high budget which provoked a flood of protests at a lengthy public hearing yesterday.

They said they would press for enactment on or about March 1 of the $936,200,000 budget which carries with it increases in four taxes amounting to $168,200,000.

The budget hearing, lasting eight hours and 45 minutes, produced a crossfire of demands for budget cuts on one hand and more spending on the other.

In all, 69 persons voiced their views at the hearing before the Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means committees and the Taxation committees of both Houses.

Others among the 157 persons who had asked speaking time filed briefs for the record and departed before the hearing ended at 8:45 p. m.

Of those who spoke, 30 represented taxpayers associations, business groups, Chambers of Commerce and research organizations.

All protested the extent of expenditures contemplated for 1949-50. They demanded that Dewey's budget be reduced to make unnecessary some or all of the proposed increases in personal income, gasoline, corporate franchise and harness racing taxes.

Proponents of increased spending represented parent, teacher, political, labor, health and school organizations.

They asked more money for education and school construction, for boosts in pay of teachers and state employes, and for child care centers and mental hospitals.

The orderly hearing contrasted with tumultuous sessions of former years. Galleries at times were half-filled and only a handful of persons were in the Assembly chamber when the last speaker finished.

The comparatively mild tone of the hearing strengthened belief on Capitol Hill that the G.O.P. majority in the Legislature would enact the budget without substantial change, despite reports of dis-

Two Hercules Men Hurt

Two Hercules Powder Company workers were slightly hurt in a minor explosion about 11 a. m. Wednesday. Edwin Cunningham, 53, of Port Ewen, was treated at Kingston Hospital for a lacerated forehead and Donald Luby, 25, of Lake Katrine, was treated for a cut over his right eye. The men were removing a drain line from a building unused since the war when a small amount of powder which remained there exploded, according to Edward P. Rochford, superintendent.

Ives Says Federal Demands Render Nation Insolvent

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Senator Irving M. Ives (R.-N.Y.) says that "today as a nation we are actually insolvent."

He made the declaration yesterday in speaking on "the nation's needs" at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Association of Towns of the State of New York.

About 2,000 officials representing more than 800 upstate local governments are attending the convention.

Speaking of the national economy, Ives said high wages must be maintained for some time to meet the "carrying charges" of government on all levels." And he said public demands for federal education aid and other programs must be met "in a moderate way."

He urged support by New York state of a "sound" program of federal aid to education, even though the program may cost the state—like other prosperous states—more in taxes than it receives in direct benefits.

Ives said New York state has "an interest in the matter," both as an indirect beneficiary and as a guardian against federal "intrusion" in local school affairs.

Ives said New York state will benefit indirectly from federal aid to education because many of its citizens come from other states with lower standards of education. Hence, he said, any nation-wide raising of those standards would ultimately help New York as well.

Saying he does not favor any of the education aid bills pending in Congress, Ives emphasized that he wants a program eliminating the

Ceylon Seeks Tourists As New Asia Playground

Colombo, Ceylon (AP)—Ceylon, youngest of Britain's dominions, is out to sell itself as "the playground of southeast Asia." The idea is to boost annual tourist revenues in three years from the present six million rupees to 60 million rupees (nearly $20 million).

The program calls for a large advertising campaign, provision of more accommodations for tourists, a clean-up of hawkers and dishonest dealers in gems and, in general, efforts to find tourists, wherever they may be.

For instance, an attempt is being made to interest Americans working in Saudi-Arabia's oilfields in spending their holidays in Ceylon. Cedric Senaratna, secretary of the government tourist bureau, says he hopes to have 400 of them arrive every two months to cool off at Nuwara Eliya, 6,200-foot high resort 112 miles east of Colombo. Senaratna also is working for stopovers by passenger vessels which now pass up Ceylon.

The government is extending its system of resthouses, where a couple may get food and lodging for 20 rupees a day. There are 115 resthouses now, spotted at tourist centers throughout the island.

Irish Immigrants Leave For U. S. by Thousands

Dublin, Eire (AP)—Irish are leaving for the United States by the thousands.

In one recent week nearly 700 of them caught America-bound boats at Cobh and the United States consulate in Dublin reported it has a waiting list of "several thousand" applicants.

Last year 6,872 cut their ties with Erin's green isle for a new transatlantic home. The number of Irish migrants to the United States has increased swiftly since the end of the war.

In 1945, 546 of them went west. Migration climbed to 1838 in 1946 and 5,562 in 1947

Average Family Paid $687 for Its Food

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The average family paid a record amount of $687 for its "market basket" of food in 1948, the Agriculture Department said today.

This is 7 per cent, or $45, more than it paid in 1947, the previous record year.

The market basket contains quantities of farm food products equal to the 1935-39 average annual purchases per family of three consumers.

Marketing charges accounted for $328 of the $687 market basket. The farmer got the remaining $359.

The department said, however, that a decline in farm and food prices in the latter part of the year brought the cost of the market basket to the annual average of $663 in December.

HOOVER HAS THE BLUEPRINT

The United States government is not only the biggest but perhaps the least efficiently run business in the world. The skill, enterprise and wealth of its "stockholders" make it almost impossible to mismanage the business into insolvency. But because the government's "stockholders," like most stockholders of private corporations, know so little about the actual operation, they are called upon yearly to make up unnecessary deficits.

All this has been known for some time, but there has been little chance to do anything about it. For the past 20 years the government's managers have been absorbed with external affairs. They have had to cope with the country's greatest depression and the world's greatest war. They have been beset by war-created problems. And they have had to let the machinery of government run as best it could.

In those 20 years the number of government bureaus, agencies and employes has quadrupled. At the same time government expenses and the per capita national debt are now almost 12 times what they were two decades ago. War made part of the disproportion between size and expense inevitable. But inefficient day-to-day operation is also a factor.

Eighteen months ago Congress had the wisdom to ask former President Hoover to survey the whole situation and recommend solutions. This first of a series of reports from his commission is now at hand. It is only a beginning, but its long-awaited appearance is no disappointment.

Mr. Hoover and his strictly bipartisan staff have done a strictly nonpartisan engineering job. They estimate that if their whole program is carried out, taxpayers may be saved $3,000,000,000 through government reorganization.

The target of the first Hoover report is the office of President. The over-all aim is to save the Chief Executive countless hours spent with conflicting reports and recommendations on virtually identical subjects. The result would be to free him for the truly executive, policy-making aspects of the world's biggest job.

The proposed reorganization sets up the same logical delegation of authority and duties in the nation's chief office that one finds in any well-run business.

The present deficiencies of organizations are not the fault of Mr. Truman or his predecessors. They are the fault of a succession of Congresses.

Congress recognized its responsibilities to remedy the situation when it appointed the Hoover Commission. Now it is up to Congress to consider and act upon the result of its work with the same non-political, dispassionate approach that marked the work itself.

In the process Congress would do well to heed Mr. Hoover's warnings against "propagandists" who may try to block changes and exempt certain agencies. Selfish efforts to force exceptions or to maintain the status quo are to be expected. Let us hope they will not tempt the legislators to half-do the overdue job which has been so ably blue-printed for them.

LAW AND WEATHER

The lawmakers of the state of Washington have been asked to do something constructive about the weather.

Two representatives have brought before the legislature a bill which aims at the creation of a state commission which would act to prevent such cataclysmic performances as recently have been put on in the west by the weather. "Supervising, controlling and changing the weather" would be the duties of this commission if the bill became a law.

While the bill may have been drafted with tongue in cheek, the effects of this winter's unusual weather performances have been no joking matter. Experts in meteorology claim they are due to the battling of air currents far above the earth, presumably out of reach of commissions and law-making bodies. Human preparation to meet unusual weather, on the other hand, often leaves much to be desired, and the shortcoming is a fitting subject for legislative bodies everywhere.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday, January 30, would become a legal holiday in West Virginia under the provisions of a bill in the legislature of that state which seems to have a good chance of enactment. Kentucky adopted such a measure not long after the late President died.

A GOVERNMENT JOB

Each year some distinguished politician goes to a college to deliver an address and to receive an honorary degree. A subject to talk about, entailing no personal responsibility or political liability, is that young men should prepare themselves for government service. The young man leaves that speech with the wonderful feeling that the President of the United States is waiting on the White House steps for him.

Well, the job is there, but it isn't so good. In the first place, according to the report of a Hoover Commission task force, there is not much of a career in government service. The job pays insufficiently; the prestige compensation is debased. The employment turnover is terrific. For instance, since 1945, the government has released or lost 3,900,000 employes and has hired 2,800,000. Although there is a movement upward for those who earn less than $3,000 a year, those who get more than that, who are moving into what in private industry would be supervisory or managerial positions, do not do well at all.

The report explains this as follows:

". . . Positions in the middle and upper responsibility levels in the federal service are filled to a large extent by appointees recruited direct from private life—a condition which was largely unavoidable during the expansion of the war years, and which has continued in the postwar period because of the need for specialized skills and abilities which could not be supplied from within the prewar career service."

Of course, the report speaks of waste. Apparently the most general and characteristic factor in government expenditures is waste. For instance, 23,430 government employes whose salaries annually aggregate $76,000,000 are engaged in personnel work. Actually, there is one personnel officer for every 78 employes and personnel work averages $42 per employe served. A private enterprise would be soon in bankruptcy with such wasteful expenditure.

The Civil Service was established and developed principally to open jobs and promotions in government to merit rather than political affiliation. The trouble is that the system is impersonal and vague. For instance, that young graduate who listened to the wonderful speech looks through the announcements for civil service examinations. He does not know where the vacancy exists or when it might be filled. And he is to be taken on probation. He might live in California and the next opening is in New York. But he does not know. When, after a long wait, he is notified, he cannot afford to take the job.

Besides, our government requires 15,000 basic skills, almost two-thirds as many as in all of private enterprise. As in the matter of the post office, the system is ancient. It was invented when the government employed 100,000 persons. Today there are five agencies of government employing more than 100,000 each. The government uses more than 27,000 installations where it employs personnel. The result is that civil service lags behind the need for specialized persons. The task force reports:

". . . In the federal service generally today there are almost two temporary-indefinite appointments for every permanent (original probationary) appointment, due to the inability of the examining process to meet current requirements promptly. Such special exceptions to regular procedures are costly because the jobs concerned must at a later time be filled by eligibles from competitive examination registers, and the temporary appointee may be displaced, after months or years of training, by someone who stands higher on the examination register. . . ."

Civil service examinations have to be general, but the kind of work the government does often requires the rare specialist. Such men are never discovered by examinations. As a matter of fact, except in wartime, few such men are willing to accept jobs at government pay or to put up with the silly red-tape and civil service seniority rulings.

The American people may have been satisfied with cheap labor in government service when the government itself did not cost much and did not play so vital a part in the affairs of each citizen. But with a $42,000,000,000 budget in sight, it becomes a problem to get a dollar of work for a dollar of taxes. Cheap government workers are like anything else that comes cheap—worth just about what one pays for it.

MENIERE'S DISEASE

When we think of Meniere's disease, many of us may have in mind only buzzing ears or head noises, with nausea and vomiting sometimes present.

A real definition of Meniere's disease, as given by Dr. P. E. Ireland, Toronto, in the "Canadian Medical Association Journal," is "acute rotary vertigo (dizziness) accompanied or preceded by buzzing of the ear on one side and some loss of hearing, moving of the eyes from side to side and often nausea and vomiting." There usually is a warning (aura) before the attack occurs. The immediate cause of the attack is the increase of fluid formed in the balancing canals.

Just what causes this increase in the fluid, which should have been absorbed, is not clear. Among the conditions that have been suspected of causing more fluid, and so increased pressure in the balancing canals, are allergy, reaction from histamine and lack of balance of water and salt in the tissues.

Dizziness may be clockwise or counter clockwise. Deafness, ringing in the ear, direction of falling and pointing with finger after or during a dizzy spell are to the side of the affected ear.

Dr. Ireland points out that while the disease is not fatal, if the attacks occur often they may cause a state of invalidism.

The treatment consists first in reassuring the patient, explaining how the pressure in the balancing canals affects hearing and causes deafness, ringing in the ears, and nausea and vomiting. Second, medical treatment is based on the attempt to control the volume of the fluid in balancing canals used to or desensitized to histamine. This is done by dilating the blood vessels of the part by nicotonic acid or by changing water balance by cutting down on fluids and on table salt or foods rich in salt such as butter, crackers and all corned, pickled, smoked or salted foods.

To help drive water out of the tissues, a dose of 7½ grains to 15 grains of postassium or ammonium chloride is given three times daily.

"Surgical treatment necessary for about 10 per cent of patients is advised only when symptoms are disabling and medical measures have failed.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—It was kept very hush-hush, but Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange had a very significant secret luncheon with a group of Congressional leaders in House Speaker Sam Rayburn's office just before he returned to Oslo.

At the luncheon, the Norwegian diplomat shrewdly let his hair down to tell American Congressional leaders his nation's troubles resulting from its willingness to join the dynamite-laden Atlantic Defense Pact. Norway has been under terrific pressure from the Russians not to join with the western powers in a mutual-defense agreement.

Lange told the Congressmen who met with him that Norway was not worried about whether or not to throw in its lot with the West. Rather, Lange said, the thing that concerned the Norwegians, as well as the Danes, was what would happen in the event Russia began massing troops near the Norwegian border during the period while Congress debated and before American aid became effective. Lange showed a brilliant knowledge of the American legislative process.

He estimated it might be five months before American aid reached Norway in quantity. It was this lag, the foreign minister said, that was causing the Norwegians so much concern.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Majority Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts both expressed the conviction that America would back Norway to the hilt. But both also warned him that the American legislative processes would have to be followed before the aid could be sent. They assured him, however, that if the Russians began threatening Norway, Congress would only act more swiftly.

Upshot of the luncheon, which was also attended by Appropriations Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon of Missouri, Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Sol Bloom of New York, Senator Magnuson and Congressman Mitchell, both of Washington, was that Lange's determination to stick with the West was stiffened.

Note: The luncheon for the Norwegian Foreign Minister was arranged by his old friend, Congressman Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

Truman Asks Autograph

President Truman is still getting a kick out of the mistake the pollsters, predicters and the newspapers made in the last election. He particularly enjoyed the recent book by Morris Ernst—"The People Know Best"—which dissects the mistakes of the press in the late campaign.

"If you hadn't written this book, I'd have written it myself," Truman told Ernst, when the latter called at the White House the other day. "It just had to be done."

Truman indicated he had read every word of the book and thoroughly enjoyed the way the press and the predicters were taken apart.

"Herbert Hoover," remarked Truman, "told me he had handed out autographs all his life but never asked, for one. But I'm one President who is going to ask for an autograph. I want yours."

Truman handed a copy of Ernst's book back to him while Ernest inscribed it.

Hint Got Franco Loan

Here is the inside story on why Franco Spain after so many years in the State Department's doghouse has now been able to get a $25,000,000 loan from the Chase National Bank.

The man behind this loan is Paul Culbertson, American charge d'affaires in Madrid. He succeeded in convincing the State Department that it is absolutely essential to give Franco some kind of economic help or else he will refuse to cooperate in the Allied plans for defending Western Europe. Culbertson sent scores of telegrams warning that Franco was heading for serious trouble unless he got dollars, somewhere to buy American machinery and equipment needed to keep his factories running.

The problem stumped the State Department for a while, because it could not risk giving Spain an American Government loan without arousing a loud protest from many Americans who consider Franco very much a dictator. Finally it was decided to pass the word quietly to the Chase National Bank that it was all right to give Franco a loan. Chase National jumped at the chance, because it's a good business deal that may lead to more loans of this kind.

The State Department, meanwhile, is sitting back to watch how Franco spends this first loan so it can decide whether to open up the U. S. Export-Import Bank to him for further help. Needless to say, Paul Culbertson is now aces high with Dictator Franco for making all this possible.

Austrian Treaty Kaput

Sam Reyber, the American representative at the discussions for an Austrian peace treaty, wants to come back home. Reyber has reported to the State Department that, with the conference only three days old, it's already quite clear the Russians have no intention whatsoever of coming to any agreement on Austria.

Therefore, Reyber has suggested that rather than waste time further, he let an understudy take over his position at the conference while he comes back to Washington to do some real work. The State Department, however, is still convinced that the Austrian negotiations by the Big Four deputies to the foreign ministers now going on in London will result in enough concessions by the Russians to warrant a Big Four meeting in New York in April. Actually, the State Department is convinced the Russians want to pit Molotov against Acheson to try out our new secretary of state for size, weight, height and reach.

Business Biggies in Washington

President Truman has been holding some highly important off-the-record meetings with business leaders because of his concern about a possible depression. The second meeting took place at Blair House secretly last Thursday and those present included Ward Canaday, head of the Willys-Overland, the motorcar company; Frank Baer, vice president of the Bank of America; Joe Love, president of Burlington Mills, and Vice President Alben Barkley.

Henry Ford II was invited but was prevented from coming by bad flying weather. Grave concern was expressed over Federal Reserve Board limitations on installment buying which, it was said, were threatening increased unemployment.

The industrialists told the President and Barkley that the one element blocking continued production is the Federal Reserve Board's limit on installment buying.

Canaday of Willys and Baer of the Bank of America pointed out that drastic cutbacks in auto production would mean a real softening of the entire steel market, including the shutdown of some marginal mills. Truman and Barkley seemed impressed by what they heard, promised to take the regulation up with Federal Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe.

Problem of Arming Nations Can Be Approached Without North Atlantic Treaty

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 17—A positive approach to the problem of arming nations for common defense against possible aggression can be made without a North Atlantic treaty. The wonder is that on both sides of the Atlantic the idea of proceeding within the framework of United Nations principles has given way to the making of what appears on the surface to be an offensive and defensive alliance limited solely to a few countries.

Originally the United Nations Charter was written as a constitution for all member nations. They were to take common measures to resist aggression. An international police force was envisaged. The United States was pledged, morally at least, to contribute her share of the armed forces.

Consultations within the Security Council of the United Nations have led to a stalemate on the founding of such a defense establishment.

Consequently groups of nations, acting within Article 51 of the United Nations Charter, have decided to form regional arrangements for defense. It is on this basis that a plan to include the Scandinavian countries was first launched.

Actually, however, the signing of a treaty with obligations spelled out could in itself become a cause of war. The mere selection of countries adjacent to a member state can lead to the belief that the defense pact is aimed at such a country. This is contrary to the basic concept of the charter itself.

What is permissible is the taking of such steps as will insure the defense of all countries against attack. This means that Norway, Sweden and Denmark, for example, will be given such aid as they may request in strengthening their own defenses.

There is no need to ask the three countries or any other nations to pledge themselves in advance to defend their own boundaries. They will do so, anyhow. Likewise the United States, for example, would never agree to supply arms to assist smaller nations if it did not believe its own defense was involved.

Hence all that is really necessary is an extension of the original lend-lease laws that prevailed during the war. No treaty, or treaties became necessary then, and they are superfluous now. The United States by a vote of the majority of both Houses of Congress—the same majority that declares war and provides for the national defense—can adopt a law providing lend-lease. This doesn't require a two-thirds vote, as does a treaty. Nor does it automatically pledge America to go to war. The right of decision is still reserved to a future Congress.

What is most important to the United States is that, in the event of war, measures can be taken instantly to defend American interests. There should be no long waiting period for American troops to go abroad to establish bases from which armed forces can help defend the European countries under attack. Entry into war has to be done almost overnight in the age of the atomic bomb.

The United States promised to send all kinds of supplies to other nations under the Lend-Lease law in 1940. In exchange, the Washington government asked for a lease of certain bases.

The same procedure can be used now, except that the bases should not be under the United States control but under the authority of all members who agree to operate under Article 51 of the United Nations charter. Such a group of nations can designate a single country or group of countries or a joint chiefs of staff to command such bases in peacetime, subject to revision of the plans in the event of an outbreak of war when command might have to be altered.

The American people do not like alliances any more today than they did when George Washington made his farewell address. American policy has been to make temporary arrangements for mutual aid to foreign countries when emergencies arise. Times have changed, however, since the outbreak of the First and Second World Wars. It is apparent now that military defense arrangements must be made in times of peace to protect America against air attack and to provide for prompt offensive steps in the event that an aggressor starts a war.

It would appear that any plan made by a group of nations for a lend-lease arrangement should be so framed as to permit it ultimately to include all nations. This would carry out the basic idea of collective security and mean that regional arrangements were superseded by a universal arrangement. Russia has written a set of treaties committing neighboring states to help her in case of attack. Eventually, if Russia becomes a free country, that set of alliances as well as any other similar set on the part of the western democracies must give way to a universal setup.

A lend-lease plan that is designed to take in all nations that wish to participate in it would be far more palatable to Congress than a treaty involving a few countries.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Governor Dewey took the occasion of the Lincoln Day voodoo to try to read the Republicans out of the party which he twice let down as its nominee for president. Now he would consolidate it with the Democratic party in an informal acceptance of the one-party system. We have had this kind of Republicanism in Cook county, Ill., New York county, N. Y., and Hudson county, N. J., and it has been rotten. As a mere nuisance, on pension from the Democratic machine, its lawyers living on table-scraps and scrouging old butts from the crooks of the bench and the back room, permanently accepting the degraded status of the "minority," the Republican party is, nowhere any better than the corruption which it lives on. It would be just that kind of party on the national scale and Dewey's proposal that it adopt as its permanent program a cheap paraphrase of the Democratic ism proves that he has given all he ever had, which will not boil down to much, and is too selfish to get out and give the party a decent chance.

As an auxiliary of the Democratic party the Republican party never could hope to win. But that is all it could hope to be under the plan which he proposes.

Here is a twice-beaten candidate, who did his best neither time and was licked the second time by a preliminary boy so forlorn that he carried his own bucket, asking a great political institution to become a mere imitation and accomplice of Roosevelt's venture into national Socialism. This thing was not honestly Roosevelt's but was thrown together by his court of nostaglic continentalists and put forward through him as an American New Deal.

When I describe these sensuous parasites as continentalists I do so so as to include not only those who were born in Europe and never quit looking longingly back over their shoulders, but native Americans who forgot that the American system meant independence and individuality by contrast with dependence and the concept of man in the mass. There were both kinds in Roosevelt's New Deal. There were the cerned to give him the fullest possible co-operation.

State Warns . . .

"Every bit of delay," he stressed, will not only mean a delay in the project, but inconveniences in their own transactions with the state, and he added: "I know enough about the situation to realize that the city needs this job."

G. L. Flewelling, who operates out of the Poughkeepsie district office and was introduced as "the money bag," of the project, assured those in the affected area that they "Haven't got to worry about having your rights protected."

The rehabilitation problem, he stressed, does not affect the general contractor's operation and the razing and dismantling of structures depends upon individual agreements with the state.

Asked by Attorney Harry Gold, who represents several property holders in the affected area, what elements of damage accrue to property owners, he explained that leases between owners and tenants are expected to be cleared, and agreements made on claims are subject to approval by the state and the railroad where it is affected.

Asked how a "fair value" is reached, he said the state arrives at that by comparing values in sales on similar properties in the area and by "using horse sense along with it." The state considers also what the property would normally sell for and where there are no comparable sales in the vicinity, it uses "horse sense."

The McGill coal silos, he said are an example of determining value without a comparable sale in the area, and in such instances the state "works up a reconstruction value."

Hughes made a plea for cooperation of all present in getting the project started after the land and claims adjuster finished talking, and he reminded them that Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, "were doing their utmost," to get the project started, and they were in need of all-out cooperation.

On the question of relocation of tenants he declared: "There ought to be some public spirited citizen willing to help." George Mobre cannot do the job alone, he said, and those in the area "shouldn't put it all on his shoulders."

Property owners mentioned their difficulties in getting tenants to move, and it was on this point that Hughes declared that the job was going ahead despite all obstacles raised.

Bixby to Have Charge

James S. Bixby, who was introduced as the engineer who will have charge of construction details, stressed that the project was delayed until this time, because the state was reluctant to bring any hardships on tenants.

It was hoped that the project would start as soon as possible after the war, he indicated. Three years have gone by since the end of the war, he said, and the state has waited. It might have waited three years more, he said, but the project has long been on schedule, and he advised that "with fierce competition for projects in the state," the people of Kingston should get together and see that it is done now.

At one point in the discussion when Hughes was addressing the group someone asked if the project was definitely going ahead this time, and he replied:

"You've heard of George Washington. I never told a lie either. This job is going ahead—the money is there and the job is going to be done."

Steps Will Be Taken

One property holder complained that no written notice had been served by the state to individual land owners, and Hughes indicated that such legal steps would be taken by the state prior to its dealings individually with each property owner.

Asked if "personal inspection" would be made of each property, Hughes explained that an examination of all properties had been made in 1941. These were "recently brought up to date," and further inspections will be made where it is found necessary. Earlier in his talk he said he last visited the city in 1941.

A series of other questions asked of Engineer McMorran brought out that while entire buildings will be removed in the project area, some property owners will have the choice of removing only such part of a building as will be found necessary.

Regrading To Be Easy

In several instances, it was explained, property owners "will find it very easy to regrade." It was brought out also that Thomas street will be re-established, Railroad and Greenkill avenues connected by a bridge, and Dedrick street will not be affected.

The street will go down at a six per cent grade east of the crossing at a point near Dedrick street. It will reach a depth of 19 feet under the crossing and continue up on a six per cent grade to a point between Thomas and Cornell streets.

A question as to whether the Ulster Hotel would be completely removed brought out that "it wouldn't be practical to leave it standing." Other buildings between there and Thomas street are scheduled to be razed.

When asked how much time the project would take, the engineer said: "A job of this nature is apt to take a year and a half. It may be one year, but I do not think that the two will be required."

When asked if a tentative date had been set for start of the project, Hughes replied that much depended upon clearing the area of tenants.

Strictly Local Problems

Someone then asked: "Where can we go?" and Hughes again emphasized that this is now strictly a local problem.

A question on the handling of traffic during construction brought out that this also is a local problem, and City Engineer Arthur Hallinan later told a reporter that plans for the handling of traffic were in a tentative stage.

The general plan at this time is to handle traffic in the project area through temporary streets from Cornell to Thomas street, Thomas street to Railroad avenue and another through to Dedrick street. One would be built between Cedar street and Greenkill avenue and another would provide access to the McGill property from Susan street.

These streets would be largely for the use of traffic in the construction area.

Other local traffic would be directed away from Broadway through Foxhall avenue for uptown travel and through O'Neil, Smith avenue and Grand street, on downtown travel.

Through traffic would be diverted over Abeel street and Wilbur avenue to main route connecting points in the uptown area and over the East Chester street bypass. These routes would take main route travel both ways.

Maps Are Inspected

Maps brought by the state officials showing the general elimination plan were inspected for some time after the speakers explained the project, and it was brought out during discussion at the time that only part of the Canfield building near the crossing is expected to be razed.

This is the largest building in the project area and it is expected that only 23 feet of the property will be required. It was also indicated that the street under the crossing will be 54 feet wide.

Some of the discussion during the session verged on heated argument, but most of those present seemed to realize that the state means business this time.

Among official present besides those from the state, Mayor Newkirk and Engineer Hallinan were: Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, E. I. McCaffery, consulting engineer; Police Chief Raymond Van Buren; George W. Moore, who has been in charge of the relocation of tenants; Albert Kurdt, secretary, and Robert Teetsel, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Among Those Present

Those who signed a record of attendance at the session were: A. J. Cook, Jr., attorney representing property owners; Laurence A. Quilty, James R. Murphy, Claude Follette, Raymond A. McAndrew, George W. Canfield, W. C. Kingman, Herman O. Dietz, James H. Betts, Mrs. David Samuels, Harry Gold, attorney for property owners; A. E. Klein, G. Dubin, E. S. Decker, George Dittmar, Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Rafalowsky, Michael Macy, Louis and Ralph Arace, George A. Paulos, Eugene Rios, Harry B. Walker, L. J. MacAvery, H. G. OUR AMERICAN KEY TO HEAVEN

In this blessed country of ours
Prosperity is shared by all—
Our American plan holds that every man
Is free to follow his chosen call.

We do live in our own way—
We choose our leaders and our friends—
From work and thrift we rarely drift,
Thus prosper to great ends.

Our country's blessed, so are we—
No one labors without gain—
Be our share large or small, the people share all
The blessings of our domain.

We must be grateful for our blessings—
Praise the Lord for it all!
And protect the fate of our Democratic State
By contributing to each worthy call.

United Charities, the Red Cross,
The Red Seals, the March of Dimes,
The Scout Movement for Moral Improvement,
Every drive needed to defeat Bad Times.

No matter how little, give your share—
Help America uphold our way of life—
A true Democracy must protect and guide humanity
From slavery, ignorance, hunger, disease and strife.

Give! And be proud of the privilege—
Let no energy leave you unshaken!
'Tis better to give than to receive—
To Give, is our American key to Heaven!

Ives Says . . .

possibility of federal control of the educational system. He said he also wants the system started on a conservative basis now.

Ives said governmental budgets should not be overloaded by trying to accomplish everything at once, and declared that a deflation of the national economy under such circumstances would be disastrous.

Despite all Republican efforts, he said, no federal budget can be kept under $40,000,000,000. To support that burden, he said, "business income must be kept high and wages must be kept high for many years to come." He said "we are not paying off the debt as fast as we should, and I shudder to think in terms of deflation, of what it would mean to our governmental structure."

Lieut. Gov. Joe R. Hanley told the meeting that local officials should be wary of demands that they seek more and more from the state and federal governments. He told the officials that they cannot get aid without losing responsibility for and control over their own local affairs.

State Welfare Commissioner Robert T. Lansdale urged the officials to take advantage of recent law amendments that permit the creation of town welfare officers, although not making it mandatory.

Fritz Campbell, supervisor of Elbridge, N. Y., president of the association, presided at the convention.

Lane Injured as Car Skids Into Bridge

Robert Lane, 31, of 60 Cedar street, escaped injury when the truck which he was driving skidded and struck the Leggs Mills Bridge at Lake Katrine about 2 a. m. today, the sheriff's department reported.

Lane was driving a 1947 pickup truck from Mt. Marion to Kingston and when crossing the bridge he applied the brakes, causing the truck to skid and hit a girder, according to information given by Lane to Deputy Sheriff Joe Haver, who investigated. The truck turned around and landed on its side, Haver said.

The front axle, springs, grille, hood, fenders and body of the truck were badly damaged, Haver said, and there was some damage to the railing and girders of the bridge. The truck is owned by Richard P. Boice of Lake Katrine.

Planned Parenthood Report Meeting

A report meeting of the workers for the Ulster County Committee for Planned Parenthood financial campaign was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Lambert Bibby. Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr, chairman, presided and called attention to the fact that this meeting was being held on the ninth anniversary of the opening of the Ulster County Maternal Health Center. She also said that Dr. M. Elizabeth Moore, medical director, and Mrs. Sanger Carleton, nurse, were on duty at the opening of the center on February 16, 1940, and have served continuously since then in their same capacities. The center is now located at 578 Broadway.

Mrs. Carr announced that Dr. James Hymes, professor of education at New Paltz State Teachers College, is going to speak over Station WKNY on Tuesday, February 22, at 11:15 a. m. She urged the workers to let their friends know of this talk.

After the meeting those present were Mrs. Bibby's guests at tea.

Up to Strength

Catskill, Feb. 17—According to Capt. Alfred Di Caprio, commanding officer, his unit of the New York State National Guard, is one of the first, if not the first to attain full strength in a recent recruiting drive. There are 67 enlisted men in the ambulance company of the 134th Medical Battalion attached to the 27th Division, and a reserve list is being established. During the drive for recruits, 25 men were signed.

Parish Directors For Charities Drive in Ulster

Appointment of local priests throughout the New York Archdiocese who will supervise the organization of volunteer workers in their respective parishes for the 1949 fund appeal of New York Catholic Charities, was announced and invitations issued for these parish directors to attend a meeting Thursday morning. Counties represented included Westchester, Dutchess, Rockland, Orange, Ulster, Sullivan and Putnam as well as the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx and Richmond.

Monsignor Christopher J. Weldon, executive director of Catholic Charities, addressed the meeting held at Cathedral Girls High School, Manhattan, and resumes of the past year's work of the organization were given by the heads of the various divisions into which Catholic Charities is divided: family care, child care, health, youth activities and youth counseling.

The goal for this year's appeal, the 30th, has been set at $2,500,000 to be raised through the efforts of the Special Gifts Committee and the Parish Auxiliaries of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity. Members of the Special Gifts Committee, composed of business and professional leaders, have already started soliciting donations from men in their respective fields of work and will continue their activities for the next few months.

The Parish Auxiliaries will confine their solicitation to the week of March 27 during which period they will make a house to house canvass for a day's wage from Catholics in all parishes of the Archdiocese. Prior to that date each parish will be organized with a parish director, parish lay chairman, committee chairman and canvassers.

Active parish directors for Ulster county and the parishes they will organize are:

The Rev. Louis A. Stryker, St. John the Evangelist and the Rev. Raymond A. Hyland, St. Mary's, both in Saugerties; the Rev. William L. Brennan, St. Colman, East Kingston; the Rev. Francis J. Kleindienst, St. Andrew and the Rev. James P. Flynn, St. Mary's, both in Ellenville; the Rev. Rudolph Kraus, D.D., St. Joseph's, Glasco.

The Rev. Joseph J. O'Rourke, Holy Name of Jesus, the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek, Immaculate Conception, the Rev. James V. Keating, St. Joseph's, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, St. Mary's, the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen, St. Peter's, all in Kingston.

The Rev. James F. Hanley, St. Mary's, Marlborough; the Rev. John T. Halpin, St. James, Milton; the Rev. Joseph R. Kozlowski, St. Joseph's, New Paltz; the Rev. John D. Sheehan, St. Francis de Sales, Phoenicia; the Rev. Joseph Comyns, C.Ss.R., Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Port Ewen; the Rev. John F. Brennan, St. Peter's, Rosendale; the Rev. James A. 'Sally' Defense Goes On

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The defense in the "Axis Sally" treason trial argued today that "mere words do not constitute the crime of treason." James J. Laughlin, attorney for Miss Mildred E. Gillars asked Judge Edward M. Curran for a "judgement of acquittal" and launched into a long argument in support of it. Laughlin argued that "even assuming that the defendant" broadcast voluntarily for the German radio during the war, the broadcast did not constitute treason.

Fresh Meat Is Bait

Nanking, Feb. 17 (AP)—Communists on the north bank of the Yangtze river used fresh meat for bait and caught an armored government launch. Naval sources here said the launch, on patrol duty, went to the north bank when the captain saw merchants peddling the meat. He wanted a change of diet. The merchants, it developed, were Communist decoys. A guerrilla band disarmed the crew and burned the craft.

Need Federal Help

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Housing needs of low-income families can be met only with federal help, spokesmen for the U. S. Conference of Mayors told a Senate Banking subcommittee today. Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York city said that although the city has undertaken a record building program since the war, it needs federal help "to make any real headway in solving" its housing problem. Similar expressions came from Mayors Vincent V. Murphy of Newark, N. J., and Frank P. Zeidler of Milwaukee.

Nominations Are Sent

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Truman today sent to the Senate for its confirmation approximately 700 postmaster nominations. The White House said most of the nominations are of men previously named by Mr. Truman during the last session of the 80th Congress. Just Business 'Burp'

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—A Brookings Institution economist told Congress today that the business hesitation is just an economic "burp," not a belly-ache. He said it probably does not call for force-feeding measures by the government. A. D. H. Kaplan testified before the Joint Economic Committee, now weighing President Truman's broad economic program, that "desperate" federal measures may be more harmful than helpful.

Bills Proposed in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—New York city legislators introduced two bills today to investigate and outlaw what they called discrimination in housing.

One measure, introduced by Senator Charles V. Scanlan, Queens Republican, and Assemblyman Philip J. Schupler, Brooklyn Democrat, would create a temporary commission to investigate "racial and religious descrimination in housing."

The other would outlaw discrimination in state-aided dwellings. It was sponsored by Senator Arthur Wachtel of the Bronx and Assemblyman Bernard Austin of Brooklyn, both Democrats.

Wachtel and Assemblyman Hulan E. Jack, Manhattan Democrat, introduced another bill barring "discrimination for reasons of race, color, creed or national origin by banks and mortgage financing institutions."

In a joint statement accompanying the measure Wachtel and Jack's declared:

"We shall never have an end to slums and ghettos until all persons can stand on an equal footing in obtaining loans to purchase or improve property."

In a bill designed to reduce the number of automobile accidents Assemblyman William G. Giaccio, Queens Democrat, proposed that motor vehicles 18 or more years old be denied registration.

Giaccio said such a law would cause "inconvenience" to owners of old cars in good condition, but that "the saving of but a few lives is more than adequate compensation."

Says Teaching Suffers

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—A noted educator declared today a majority of college teachers do not know how to teach. Dr. Harry J. Carman, dean of Columbia College, in a speech prepared for delivery at the ninth annual Forum on Education of the Tuition Plan, said "our college staffs are weighted with well-meaning but often dull and routine people, some of whom should not be in the teaching profession and the majority not knowing how to teach." In his address for 250 school teachers, professors and administrators, Dr. Carman said the fault lies with the graduate schools which he said are more concerned with a man's scholarship and research ability than in his capacity to teach.

As Pegler Sees It

Immigrants such as Frankfurter and Wagner, and the native despondents who, in sport, would be called gutless. Most of these latter were tempted by such trippery as private offices and toothsome secretaries, free long distance calls to the New York and California horse-tracks, free limousine service and invitations to the cocktail brawls of Washington, Palm Beach and Miami. They included a sordid crew of academic bums from the Ivy League and the leaky roof hutches of the western stretch. They got a taste of high life in Washington, got divorced and stole from the public files all the material that nobody else had stolen already, suitable for blackmail or other ulterior use in the private practice of law.

The whole pack of them took charge of Roosevelt in his first year and got him to revoke every promise and principle that he had uttered in his campaign. The shock of this audacity was so great that few patriotic citizens had the presence of mind to appreciate the enormity of his defiance. Alf Landon was one of them. Today few of the old voters, and none below the age of 30, realize that any such episode ever occurred. Having no principle, Roosevelt found it not even inconvenient, far less immoral, to reverse his campaign without notice and become an imitation of Adolf Hitler but using Hitler as his dirty dog while Hitler used Stalin for his.

While Hitler's Brown Shirts, under license from der Fuehrer, attacked bewildered and unoffending Jews, Roosevelt's goons, under similar license and organization, set upon whole communities of innocent Americans and spread terror organizing the C.I.O. The C.I.O. is today an enormous party auxiliary with unlimited powers of taxation, strangulation, intimidation and corruption and it uses them according to political need. Here again our government follows the plan of national socialism in Germany.

Mr. Dewey has often thrown salacious winks at this concern. Now he makes wolf-calls.

It was not an original discovery of Roosevelt that the intelligence of the people is a political figure of speech even in a country which arbitrarily inflicts education on the mollusk, measuring it by a mathematical unit like the erg. But not even Hitler himself was quicker to exploit their weakness.

Even Dewey, who got his standard portion at the University of Michigan and a little smitch of seconds at Columbia, now seems too dumb to understand that nobody will buy an imitation when the original is still to be had.

There were many among Dewey's trudging followers who long fought down a suspicion which he confirmed at last in the Washington oration. Confirmation is found also in his vengeful proposal to double his budget and raise the income tax 66 per cent under a Rooseveltian pretext which pretends there is no raise. All this has happened since he got his licking in November. What he might have done as president is a thought too harsh to face.

It is true that the nation has cultivated bad habits of class privilege, inflation and selective law enforcement which, if broken off suddenly, might be fatal. Doctors handling drunkards know about that. But Republicans at least would try to taper off the patient and get back to a reasonable ration of toddy.

It broke Dewey's heart to be licked by Truman and that is his trouble. Everything he has done since then has been mean, vindictive and destructive.

Unemployment
February 15, 1949.

Editor, The Freeman:

This letter is in response to several sincere requests for a viewpoint on our local unemployment situation. My stand is certainly with every local citizen who is sincerely interested in a balanced standard of living for each member of the local population.

From the outside, the industrial view here is indeed disheartening. Starting at the creek front, one becomes weary in the search for signs of take-home pay plant, factory and business establishment sources. We have industries and business, it is true; but not in proportion to the flow of dollars that is necessary for the adequate care of the men, women and children who live in the area, and who must depend upon the earnings of labor, skilled or otherwise, for material happiness. We have also fine shopping centers, especially in the uptown segment; but these cannot begin to provide jobs for all who need them; and our other small establishments, such as those relative to the automotive, agricultural, building and furniture trades, have limited needs for hired male help.

I think we can advance rapidly with our unemployment problem if we can all see that the fruits of honest labor, when adequately compensated for, is the stuff that promotes the material progress of the community, the city and the nation. And experience has taught that the physical needs of people can be supplied through this medium without conflicting with the specific religious, social and cultural desires of the individual. It is simply a matter of metropolitan or community teamwork on a large scale. The example of Pensacola, Florida, could be cited in detail, if space permitted. That patriarch city of the deep south came up out of much of its poverty and discouragement of the early 1930s via the Junior-Senior Chamber of Commerce and Mayor-Council-City Manager route. Pensacola and Kingston enjoy like natural resources—colonial tradition, favored geographical position, tourist interest and the all-important space for industrial expansion.

The efforts by interested groups and persons which have already been expended toward the solution of this problem are highly recommendable.

Very truly yours,
H. F. ELLIOTT.

Music Department In Public Schools Has Busy Schedule

The Music Department of the Kingston Public Schools is anticipating a busy spring season. As a result of recent efforts made to build up the band and orchestra groups, there are now 365 students receiving instruction upon band and orchestral instruments—200 in the grammar schools, 75 in the Myron J. Michael School, and 90 in the high school.

The high school band, under the direction of Martin Morette, has doubled in size and now numbers 60 members. The spirit of enthusiasm is high, and the playing ability is showing marked improvement. The band will present a public concert on Friday, April 8.

The high school orchestra of 45 players, under the direction of Harry Berchin, recently presented an assembly program which provoked much favorable comment. The orchestra will be heard at the Senior Play on March 3, 4 and 5.

The Myron J. Michael School has an orchestra of 40 players, directed by Mr. Berchin, a chorus of 100 singers under the direction of Miss Dorothea Groves, and a band group of 45 students recently organized by Mr. Morette. The band and orchestra alternate in playing for assemblies, and the orchestra and chorus will both participate in the school operetta, the date for which has not yet been announced.

The elementary schools instrumental group will give a concert on Friday, May 20, in the high school auditorium. This concert will include solos, ensembles, and some massed group numbers, under the direction of Miss Lulu May Roberts, the grammar school instrumental teacher.

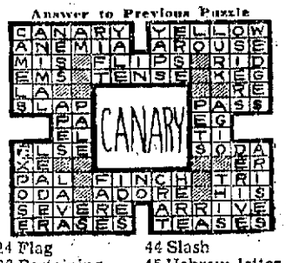

The high school vocal groups, directed by Leonard Stine, will also be heard in concert. The A Cappella Choir will sing in Poughkeepsie on April 1, under the auspices of the Dutchess County Musical Association, and will give its annual concert here on May 13 and 14. The school chorus, a larger vocal group of 220 voices which has met heretofor as a practice group, will this year sing the Faure "Requiem" for public performance. The date for this concert has not yet been decided upon, but will be announced later along with other details.

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

One of the difficult problems for all bridge writers is to get down to earth for their readers who are just beginning to take up contract. As I said in Monday's article, the late Louis H. Watson in my opinion was one oof the greatest card players.

Back in the days when people were changing over from auction to contract, Louis used to say, "Teach them the simple plays. The tough ones will take care of themselves."

Today's hand, for example, would present no problem to the expert, but it is the type of hand which the beginner should study. When declarer wins the opening lead of the deuce of hearts with the king, he might be tempted to cash his four high spades. But then he would lose the contract because he would have no entry into dummy.

The correct procedure is to lead the ten of clubs. East should refuse to win this trick. Now declarer should lead the nine of clubs, and again East will refuse.

Now the six of clubs is led and overtaken in dummy with the jack. East is forced to win this trick, and regardless of what he returns, declarer can win it, cash the ace and king of spades and enter dummy by playing a spade. This allows him to cash two good club tricks.

Alleged Thief Caught in Ohio

Cleveland, Feb. 17 (AP)—A 28-year-old man sought for a series of burglaries in fashionable Westchester county, N. Y., was arrested in a downtown jeweler's office yesterday carrying 11 packets of unset diamonds worth an estimated $110,000.

Detective Lieutenant Maurice Kelly of New Rochelle, N. Y., worked with Cleveland detectives in making the arrest. Kelly arrived here only a few hours earlier after local police had advised him they had spotted the man from police circular pictures.

Kelly identified the man arrested as Gerard Graham Dennis, "society burglar and stick-up man," and said he was wanted for some 15 burglaries. Kelly said he had been on Dennis' trail since a burglary victim was shot in a New Rochelle home September 20, 1946.

After the police nabbed Dennis in the jewelers displaying the diamonds, he admitted he had stolen the diamonds in Westchester homes and had ripped them from settings which he destroyed, Deputy Inspector James A. McArthur said.

Police said Dennis' record showed he was born in Toronto and was in the U.S.A. illegally.

Later Police Chief Walter Kirchoff of New Rochelle, said "we want him (Dennis) for questioning on felonious assault."

Marshall Tulloch of New Rochelle was wounded in the abdomen by a gunman he surprised in his home September 20. Tulloch was not seriously wounded. He identified pictures of Dennis as his assailant.

A year later, police were tipped off that the man they wanted was Jerry Farrell of Riverdale. Police raided the Farrell apartment and found $50,000 in stolen jewelry, but Farrell had escaped. A woman who said she was Farrell's common-law wife gave them no information.

Kirchoff had attributed ten burglaries, during the summer of 1946, to one man. He said Dennis also is wanted for questioning by the Quebec, Canada, police.

Jersey 'Crisis' Develops

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 17 (AP)—A "crisis" in the supply of New Jersey public school teachers is developing, Education Commissioner John H. Bosshart said today. He released an annual study of the teacher shortage shortly after Governor Driscoll's office announced that more money was spent for each pupil by New Jersey last year than 46 other states. A survey by the Council of State Governments showed only Montana with an average expenditure of $255.85 was higher than New Jersey's $252.32.

Priests' Trial Starts

Warsaw, Poland, Feb. 17 (AP)—A Polish military tribunal started the trial today of two Catholic priests accused of collaborating with an 'underground' band. The priests, the Rev. Twenty-one men have moved from Men's Hall into the College Hall where they will occupy the top floor. The 16 remaining women will occupy the lower floor. Sure They'd Be Defenders

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Two runaway Russian fliers say that in the event of a Soviet-American war, the Russian people would be convinced that they were the defenders and not the attackers. The pair, Anatole Barsov and Peter Pirogov, told a news conference yesterday that the Russian people have received such a steady stream of reports of American power and unfriendliness that they believe war is inevitable. Pirogov said the Russian government constantly tells the Russian people that the Soviet Union cannot exist surrounded by capitalist nations.

Chases Robbers

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Not scared by a pointed knife and a death threat, a Chinese laundryman chased five young alleged robbers empty-handed out of his establishment last night by brandishing a flatiron and yelling in his native tongue. The laundryman, Chin Chong, proved a good detective, too. He made mental note of a facial scar on one of the youths. With that clue, police soon rounded up the alleged would be robbers. Booked for assault and robbery were: Robert Montgomery, 16, of 329 East 97th street; Walter Trzaska, 18, of 996 Washington avenue, the Bronx; and Thomas Long, 16, of 385 East 184th street, the Bronx. Two 15-year-old boys were charged with juvenile delinquency.

Cost Penny More

Ottawa, Feb. 17 (AP)—They were slicing things thin when they figured out the cost of building destroyers in Canada. H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons today, cost $7,647,550.01. That one cent at the end represented the ship's advance in cost over a sister ship, Cayuga.

When you gather together all the figures you will need to make your 1948 Federal income tax return, use an Income Tax Worksheet. A Worksheet will make the task easier and will remind you to take full advantage of the tax saving features of the Revenue Act of 1948. Here are some of the important new provisions to consider:

Split Income Benefits for Husband and Wife.
Higher Exemptions—Double exemption for some taxpayers.
Specific Reductions in Tax.
Higher Standard Deduction.
More Generous Medical Deduction.

The Income Tax Worksheet contains columns for listing all types of income—salaries, dividends, interest, rents—and columns for listing all deductions. There is also a schedule for computing gains and losses from sales of securities or other capital assets. (Remember this year husband and wife combine such profits and losses). Column headings are correlated to the 1948 Federal income tax return.

Explanatory notes indicate important new tax-saving provisions and serve to guide you in the proper assembling of all data.

Because income taxes affect nearly everyone, we are offering the Worksheet to residents of the community as a genuine public service. To get your copy, fill in the coupon below and mail it to us.

WINTER VEGETABLES WITH GLAMOR

Acorn squash stuffed with ham and rice, served with cream sauce.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
N.E.A. Staff Writer

Acorn squash, stuffed with rice and ham, with a smooth cheese sauce—how does that sound? Or fluffy creamy mashed yellow turnips, delicately seasoned—that's good, too. So you see, winter vegetables, despite their comparatively low cost, can have table glamor.

Stuffed Acorn Squash
(Serves 4)

Two acorn squash, 1 cup ground cooked ham, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, dash Tabasco sauce, ¼ cup fine bread crumbs, 4 tablespoons fortified margarine, 1 cup cheese sauce.

Cut the squash in halves or thirds depending on size. Steam until tender. Mix the ham, rice, onion, parsley, Worcestershire and Tabasco sauce. Fill the centers of the squash. Top with bread crumbs. Dot with margarine. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until lightly browned. Serve with cheese sauce.

Cheese Sauce

Two tablespoons fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup grated American cheese.

Melt the margarine; add flour and blend. Pour in the milk and cook over low heat until thick, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper. Stir in the grated cheese until melted.

Mashed Yellow Turnips

Two pounds yellow turnips, water, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 onion, minced, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk, 1/16 teaspoon cayenne pepper, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce (if desired).

Wash and peel turnips. Cut into small pieces. Cover with water. Add salt, pepper and onion. Boil until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain thoroughly, then mash. Add butter, cream or evaporated milk and remaining ingredients. Beat vigorously until light and fluffy. Serve very hot.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Mixed tomato and grapefruit juice, fluffy omelet, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Stuffed acorn squash with cheese sauce, enriched soft rolls, butter or fortified margarine, ginger pears, molasses cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Fried, quick-frozen fish fillets, tartar sauce, parsley, potatoes, fluffy yellow turnips, green salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, fresh fruit gelatin, cream, coffee, milk.

Ulster Garden Club Opens 35th Season

Ulster Garden Club opened its 35th consecutive year with a meeting at the home of Mrs. Gerard Betz, 152 Pearl street. Many plans were discussed including the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America to be held this spring in North Carolina and Tennessee.

Also plans were made for members of the club to attend the International Flower Show in March. The Garden Club of America luncheon will be held at the Plaza Hotel.

A guest privilege meeting was announced for March 15 at the First Baptist Church when a guest speaker will give an illustrated talk on conservation.

For the program, Mrs. Terry Staples of Saugerties read a paper from the pen of Thomas J. Page, agricultural director of Radio Station WNBC. This paper included the new scientific treatment of plants and flowers with atomic energy. It gave a forecast of things which will come as a result of developing the atomic energy uses.

Afterward tea was served. Mrs. William A. Warren and Miss Katherine Hasbrouck poured.

Kerhonkson V.F.W. Praised for Work At Castle Point

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8959, Kerhonkson, and its auxiliary have been highly commended by the Castle Point Staff for their volunteer work, according to John Kilgannon, chairman of the hospital committee.

Fifty-three members visited Castle Point Hospital at Beacon Sunday and distributed more than 150 packages to the patients. The auxiliary made home made cookies and donuts while the veterans purchased cigarettes, candy, chewing gum and solicited magazines from the community, and the Post. This was the third visit made by the post. The patients recall the two wheel chairs that were donated last summer.

Kilgannon suggested to the Post that there should be at least one visit a month, and also stated that the men are in need of playing cards and knitting material, and has seen how meaningful the program has been to the patients.

Valentine Party Held By Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club enjoyed a Valentine party at the home of Mrs. Warren Russell, 46 Burgevin street, Monday evening.

Topics for next year's study were discussed during the short business meeting. At the conclusion Mrs. Adam H. Porter, chairman of the program committee, introduced Miss L. May Quimby as speaker of the evening.

Miss Quimby gave a comprehensive resume of the foreign policy of the United States. Beginning with George Washington, whose policy was one of isolationism and strength through unity, she noted that this was essentially the policy of the United States through the terms of Jefferson and Monroe down to the Spanish American War, when the period of isolationism ended.

Following the end of the First World War, President Wilson's failure to appropriate a bi-partisan committee to accompany him to Europe caused Congress to refuse to join the League of Nation, she said. Profiting by this experience, Franklin D. Roosevelt formed a strong bi-partisan backing assuring the cooperation in U.N.O.

Miss Quimby ended her talk by explaining the present diplomatic crisis in Scandinavia.

A question and answer period followed. Refreshments were served by the program committee.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Joseph Deegan, 219 Albany avenue, February 28.

The guest conductors of the festival will be Leonard Bernstein and Eleanor de Carvalho. Soloists will be announced. Before these concerts in the large Music Shed by the full orchestra, Dr. Koussevitzky will conduct four concerts by an orchestra of smaller proportion in the intimate Threatre-Concert Hall. These concerts will be given on the Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon of two week-ends, July 16-17, and July 23-24. Two different programs will be given each week-end. Good Taste Today

EXAGGERATING CORRECTNESS

The following letter is obviously from a teacher: "I'm conducting an etiquette class in school, using your book as a guide. A question has arisen and needs further explanation: Should a gentleman always walk on the curb side on the sidewalk? If so, when they turn a corner, what is the proper maneuver for his getting on the outside again? I believe you have stressed the unimportance today of his protecting her from the dangers of the road, but even so I find a lingering distavor of having the man walk on the inside next to the buildings. I'd like to pass on to the young men in the class the latest accepted behavior on this point."

Here in the United States, many years ago, the most important rule was that a gentleman walking with a lady on a city street should walk on the curb side of the street. In Europe (and also in many of the oldest cities here in America), the one unbreakable rule to be followed by every gentleman was that of placing a lady on his right. In order to do this, as they turn corners or retrace their steps, they might have to cross the street to the opposite sidewalk. The one rule of definite importance in this present day for a courteous man is that he must not break both rules and permit a lady to be placed on the curb and also on his left!

Writing Checks

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) When a check is written to someone eminent or elderly, someone you wouldn't think of addressing by first name, is the check still written to Mary Jones without any title at all? (2) Might not some people think this disrespectful?

Answer: (1) Yes. (2) No, because the check should be made to each person's legal signature—which is without title.

Card Enclosure to Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a card enclosed with the church invitation to a wedding reading simply "and afterwards at the reception" mean that one is invited to that, too? Or is that merely an announcement?

Answer: It means you are invited to the reception.

Crease Resisting Velvet Used by French Designers

The velvet, dyed special shades to suit the individual houses, is used on suits, cocktail and evening dresses.

Robert Piguet shows it in a rich mustard shade for a draped short evening dress with wide white lace on the low strapless bodice.

Molyneux uses it in chartreuse for an evening sheath with kimona sleeves and a high straight neckline. He also shows it in dove grey for an ankle length dinner dress. Wide black lace flutes out from beneath a deep frill set around the hips and the off-shoulder shawl collar.

Pierre Balmain chooses black velvet for a cocktail suit with tailored jacket and full bias cut skirt.

Jean Patou shows black for a pinafore dress worn with a red and white polka dotted tie silk blouse. He sets big puffy sleeves on a full length coat in pale bluebell.

Jeanne Lanvin shows brilliant emerald green for a strapless evening gown.

Russian Papers Accord Attention To 'Ike's' New Job

Moscow, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's appointment as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff is receiving considerable attention from the Soviet press.

Most newspapers published a dispatch credited to a Washington correspondent of the London Observer, saying the appointment was connected with formation of an American general staff to deal with planning military aid to Europe.

It also is being asserted that Eisenhower will devote his attention to the Mediterranean area. A story from Athens was carried under the headline: "Coming Arrival of Eisenhower in Greece."

Soviet newspaper commentators are hold back very little in discussions of the United States and Britain at present. The trade union newspaper Trud said today "Anglo-American strategists now are engaged in drafting plans connected with the preparation of aggression against the U.S.S.R. and countries of the new democracy."

This is one of the strongest statements printed by a Soviet newspaper in some time, but all the papers have been carrying statements along the same line these days.

While interest in Scandinavian developments remain high here, the press also showing great interest in the Mediterranean and Middle East.

One commentator said the U. S. is seeking to get all the countries of the Middle East as well as Iran, Afghanistan, India, and Pakistan into the proposed North Atlantic pact. Another commentator said efforts were in progress to reconcile Italy and other Mediterranean countries with Spain.

Another headline today said "American Plans for Trusteeship Over Tripolitania."

Asking About Trades

Newburgh, Feb. 17 — Although dealers deny that the automobile shortage is over, salesmen are making a house-to-house canvass asking about trade-ins for new autos, according to a recent report. In explaining the procedure, agency owners say it is to establish a list for the future, and that a number of models are still scarce.

Committee Completes Hearing on Clerics

Garden City, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—After taking testimony for two days, a church committee has completed a closed hearing on a petition calling for the ouster of a Brooklyn rector largely because of the political activities of his son.

The Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, 74-year-old rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, said yesterday after the conclusion of the hearing, "I feel very cheerful, but not very hopeful."

It was reported that neither the elder Melish nor his son, the Rev. William Howard Melish, the church's assistant rector, appeared at the final hearing session, which was attended by about 25 witnesses.

The hearing was conducted by the standing committee of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Long Island, which now will draw up a digest of testimony on the ouster petition filed by the vestry of Trinity Church.

The committee may offer recommendations concerning the petition to Bishop James P. Dewolfe of the Long Island diocese, in whose hands a final decision rests.

The vestry called for the rector's removal because he refused to interfere with his son's activity as chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. The council is on Attorney General Clark's subversive list.

The elder Melish expressed hope that Bishop Dewolfe would not act on the petition until after an April 18 church election. Melish said he expects members to elect vestrymen who will support him and his son.

Some Ads Are Banned

Cleveland, Feb. 17 (AP)—This city's large daily papers announced today they would ban certain help-wanted and situation wanted advertisements containing mention of race, religious creed, color, national origin and ancestry. The Cleveland Newspaper Publishers Association, whose members include The News, Plain Dealer and Press, adopted this policy: "Member publishers agree that they will not accept male or female help or situation wanted advertising which contains references to race, religious creed, color, national origin and ancestry. This includes employment bureau advertising, but does not include help or situation wanted advertising for domestic help in private homes or advertising for private personal services."

State of Emergency

Bangkok, Feb. 17 (AP)—The government today declared a state of national emergency, and Premier Phibun Songgram said Siam will not tolerate an influx of Communism. The premier said the Communist doctrine was sweeping neighboring countries. Police were instructed to control the press by partial censorship, especially those newspapers with pro-Communist leanings. The order applied to all newspapers in all languages, he said, including the large Chinese press.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Rent controls seemed sure today to be continued, but perhaps in weaker and shorter form than President Truman has requested.

A check of some leading members of the House Banking Committee, now considering the legislation, indicated this line of thinking:

1. Continuation of rent ceilings for 12 to 14 months. Mr. Truman has requested two years.

2. A ban on mass eviction of tenants. Some landlords have threatened to withdraw their rental property from the market if rent ceilings are extended.

3. Power for the rent administrator to sue for damages where landlords overcharge tenants. But the administration may not get its requested authority to bring criminal action, with fine and imprisonment on conviction, against property owners who violate the rent law.

Tenants now have a right to sue for rent overcharges. But the administration contends that the fear of eviction prevents them from taking their complaints to the courts.

Five Are Arrested For Public Intoxication

Five men were arrested yesterday on public intoxication charges, two of them following a fight on Wurts street.

Charles Fitzmaurice, New York, and James P. Finnegan, Roslindale, Mass., were arrested at 1:35 p. m., after a woman had complained of a fight in progress on her porch on Wurts street.

Two others, George Miller of Boston and James Davis, who said he had no home, were arrested at 4:50 p. m., and at 10 p. m. last night Francis Hickey, 75 Second avenue, was arrested.

City Judge Matthew V. Cahill today suspended sentence on four of the men and ordered them out of the city. Hickey forfeited $10 bail.

Finds Husband After $7,000, Two-Year Hunt

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—A 38-year-old Chicago woman brought a determined two-year search for her missing husband to a happy conclusion today when they were reunited in the anteroom of a police station here.

"I am so happy—and terribly excited, too," Mrs. Elsie Lanning said as she embraced her 42-year-old husband, Harry. "He's going to return to Chicago with me."

Lanning, a supervisor of the Container Corporation of America, disappeared from the firm's Chicago office on St. Valentine's Day in 1947. Since then, Mrs. Lanning has blanketed the country with circulars offering a $500 reward for a clue to her husband's whereabouts.

Lanning, who has been working as a dishwasher in a Queens tavern, was picked up by police here on a technical forgery charge. They accused him of falsely obtaining a cabinet employe's license.

One of Mrs. Lanning's circulars was seen by a restaurant worker here who thought the picture was that of a dishwasher he knew. He notified police, Lanning had been living under the name of Harry Manders in Brooklyn.

Police explained the forgery charge as a technicality to hold the man until he had a chance to talk with Mrs. Lanning.

Tall and gaunt, his clothing shabby, Lanning was quoted by his wife as saying he did not know why he had left her and that he was "sorry."

Since her husband's disappearance, Mrs. Lanning has spent about $7,000 in sending out some 250,000 circulars and letters trying to find him. She expressed belief the missing man was an amnesia victim.

Lanning will be arraigned later today on the forgery charge.

Robert was acquired 15 months ago by Alan Williams, general manager of the Brighton Aquarium. The bird dealer threw in a pedigree attesting that Robert was a century and a quarter old and male. Harry, the parrot, masqueraded as a boy bird for 29 years before he laid his egg Jan. 21 at the Bull Inn Public House in Maidstone. Harry's name is now Harriet. Robert is now Roberta.

18 Youngsters Are Out for Rehearsal In Music Project

The first in a series of weekly rehearsals planned by Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, to stimulate interest and advance musical education for young people was held Wednesday night at the Musicians' Union hall, Leventhal Building, 288 Wall street.

Eighteen young musicians played in the ensemble and more than 40 people expressed their interest in the project. No beginning students were admitted.

Albert Rossi, instructor, explained that the program was arrange to create and give young musicians ensemble playing experience and not individual instruction as some thought.

"A youngster should be able to play at least a little, having had perhaps a year's lessons on his instrument," Mr. Rossi said as he pointed out that he could not teach a beginner to play during the short time of rehearsal each week.

Last night's ensemble included two piano accordions, a piano, a violin, a viola, four clarinets, four trumpets, a bass horn, two drums and two saxophones. The group played through The American Patrol March and Merry Widow Waltz and several other numbers.

Rehearsals will be held each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. All youngsters of the city who have had some musical experience are invited to avail themselves of this added opportunity for ensemble playing.

Present at the rehearsal last night were Mrs. Clementine Nessel, John Valentine, William Steuding, members of the union's children's program committee; Marlin Morette, band director of the city's schools and Harry Berchin, orchestra instructor in the schools, both of whom endorsed the program.

Also present were a number of parents, members of Local 215, "Pop" Fuhrman and several members of the Boys' Club.

Two Hurt in Collision Between Sedan, Truck

Two men were injured slightly in a collision between a milk truck and a sedan at about 8 a. m. today at Flatbush avenue and East Chester street.

Harry P. Carle, R.D., Saugerties, operator of the sedan, suffered cuts on the left hand and right knee and possible injury to the right side, and Joseph P. Persons, Copenhagen, N. Y., reported an injured left knee, the police said. Neither was hospitalized in this city.

Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Thomas Tomshaw, who investigated, reported that Carle was headed southwesterly over Flatbush avenue and the truck was traveling into the city on East Chester street, when they collided.

The truck, owned by Deforest L. Reed, Carthage, N. Y., was damaged in the front and the sedan was damaged on its front and right rear.

to undertake short of an actual promise to declare war.

Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposed a draft treaty clause Tuesday which would leave it up to each nation to decide what action it might take in event one member of the security system was attacked. Connally left out any reference to the possibility of military action although he did not exclude such action.

Last Monday's Senate debate brought out strong opposition to any automatic "war" pledge. In view of that, some senators are reported to feel it might now be smarter politics for the negotiations of the treaty to leave out any reference to military action because its specific inclusion might prove a new rallying point for critics.

Yuan Will Convene

Nanking, Feb. 17 (AP)—War shy legislators crept back to the capital today for a Yuan session, later this month. Several from Canton were among early registrants. Premier Sun Fo, the cabinet and some lawmakers fled there late last month. They hoped to set up a refugee capital in the south and hold the next Yuan meeting there. But Acting President Li Tsung-jen balked at leaving Nanking. He wants the next legislative Yuan meeting here about Feb. 25.

designate David Ben-Gurion, prime minister of the provisional government, to form a new government. Ben-Gurion is the leader of the Mapai Labor Party which holds 44 seats, the largest bloc, in the assembly.

Dr. Weizmann received 83 votes to 15 for the only other candidate, Prof. Yosef Klausner, 73, a retired professor of Hebrew literature when the assembly voted on a president. Klausner was the candidate of the Herut (Freedom) Party, headed by Menachem Belgin, former leader of the extremist Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Fifteen delegates returned empty envelopes in the secret balloting, indicating opposition to both candidates. Six were absent and one vote was declared invalid.

Dr. Weizmann's election had been expected, partly as a tribute to the major role he has played in the establishment of Israel. He has devoted most of his life to the Zionist cause.

He is a past president of the World Zionist Organization. He was born November 27, 1874, in Motyli, near Pinsk, then in Czarist Russia and now a part of eastern Poland.

He went to England in 1904 as a lecturer in biological chemistry. His services as a chemist to Britain during the first World War are said to have been the basis for the Balfour Declaration of 1917. In that famous statement the British pledged to provide a national home for the Jews in Palestine.

Dr. Weizmann's autobiography, "Trial and Error," which tells of his long fight for Zionism, was published only last month.

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Princess Margaret has gone to Scotland to see her third beau of the week, the Earl of Dalkeith. She will spend a few days at the Dumfriesshire residence of his father and mother, the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch. Earlier this week Margaret went to the Lingfield races with Tom Egerton, 30-year-old scion of an old British family, and to the Covent Garden Opera House Ballet with the Honorable Michael Fane, who is 21 and brother of Earl Westmoreland. The Earl of Dalkeith is 25. His name was first linked with Margaret's in romantic speculation last October when he took her to a London movie house. They had another night out together in London in December.

Bronchitis Control In Poultry Will Be Studied Feb. 23

The Poultry Committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau will meet next Wednesday to consider the best method for determining the opinion of area poultrymen on whether a proposed new method for controlling infectious bronchitis in flocks should be established here.

The new method, involving the spreading of the disease from a few birds to the entire flock, has been used in Massachusetts for five years and is now proposed for New York state. The Veterinary College of Cornell University recommends that 75 per cent of the poultrymen of the county be in favor of the project before it is instituted.

The plan was explained Wednesday by Dr. C. E. Angstrom, director of the New York State Regional Veterinary Laboratory in this city, to approximately 50 persons attending the annual school for poultrymen at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street.

Under this plan, the actual disease would be given to a small number of pullets and these birds would be placed back in the flock to spread the disease to the others, he said.

The advantage is that the pullets can be given the disease when the disease would do the least damage to the birds, or at an age of about three months, Dr. Angstrom said. If the pullets mature and begin to lay and then get the disease, they will drop to about 20 per cent production for several weeks and as they recover will lay soft-shelled eggs which are not saleable, he said.

However, since the disease indeed by this new method spreads to all birds in the flock, it will present a problem for poultrymen who have birds of different age groups in their flocks, he pointed out.

Of the 50 poultrymen present, slightly more than half expressed themselves in favor of trying the plan, while the others were undecided.

Speaking on the brooding and care of young chicks, Professor L. E. Weaver of Cornell pointed out that because of two recent developments, farmers today average 100 chickens out of every 110 pullets started, whereas 20 years ago a farmer had to start 300 chicks to get 100 laying hens. These developments are those which make it possible to buy pullorum-free chicks and to determine the sex of day-old chicks, making it possible to buy all pullets instead of having some roosters in the group, he said.

Cameron Loomis, district agricultural engineer, discussed poultry house equipment which enables a poultryman to do the work more efficiently.

The precautions of secrecy had been announced by McKee. He said army intelligence had asked for secrecy and that identification of witnesses, disclosure of the testimony or even announcement of the verdict might imperil United States safety.

Clay, in ordering an investigation, said "I want those trials to be open unless completely convinced that secrecy is absolutely necessary for the protection of U. S. security or the safety of innocent individuals."

He explained that he was afraid unfriendly persons might seize upon the secrecy of the trial for propaganda purposes.

Burhans Returns From Probation Convention

Edmund U. Burhans, chief probation officer for Ulster county, has returned from Schenectady where he attended the 40th annual State Conference of Probation Officers, which was held at the Van Curler Hotel on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday under auspices of the New York State Probation Commission and the Division of Probation, New York Department of Correction.

Burhans was a member of the reception committee for the conference.

Abram F. Livingston, director of probation, Schenectady Probation Department, presided at the session.

Sessions were held at which prominent probation and social workers spoke, among them being Hon. W. Pansegrouw, professor, South Africa Social Affairs, Division of Social Activity, United Nations, Lake Success.

The annual banquet was held on Tuesday evening at the Van Curler.

it will be augmented by heavy spring rains. The latter often cause damaging floods by themselves.

A very late thaw, accompanied by heavy spring rains, might interfere seriously with planting of spring crops. Spring floods were partly responsible for a very short corn crop in 1947. That was reflected later in shorter supplies and higher prices of meats and other livestock products.

The water content of the snow cover on major watersheds was given as about 200 per cent above normal in the Columbia basin; 150 per cent above normal on the headwaters of the Missouri river; 175 per cent above in the Great Basin and the upper Colorado, and normal on the Rio Grande, Arkansas, Salt, Gila and in Southern California.

They would be subject to merit standards set by the post office and approved by the Civil Service Commission.

Washington Day Dinner a Sell-out

A capacity attendance of 280 persons is expected at the 24th annual Washington day dinner at the First Dutch Reformed Church tonight, President William C. MacElveen of the Men's Club, sponsors of the dinner, announced today. Tickets for the dinner have been completely sold out, he said.

The speaker will be James E. Gheen, of New York, a public relations counsellor with nationwide experience and reputation as an after-dinner speaker.

Music will be provided by Ted Riccobono. Richard Talleur will lead singing and a brief special entertainment will be directed by James Little. The ladies of the church are in charge of preparing and cooking the turkey dinner. Edward C. DeWitt is chairman of the ticket committee.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m. today at Bethany Hall.

HOME BUREAU

Washington Visit

Mrs. Matilda Abrahams, citizenship leader of Kerhonkson Home Bureau reported on her recent trip to Washington, D. C., at the regular meeting of the unit February 9. The group met with Mrs. Frank Pugliese.

Mrs. Abrahams spoke of her tour to the capital, the House of Representatives and Senate. She told of the procedure in each house and also read a Creed for All Americans by Stephen Vincent Benet.

Mrs. Otto Hagedorn was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. McCauley reported that she had completed the final lesson in kitchen carpentery and has made shelves for her kitchen cupboards. Those interested in these lessons are asked to contact Mrs. McCauley.

A trip to Hyde Park is being planned. The next meeting will be program planning and election of officers at the home of Mrs. Thomas Davis, Wednesday, March 9.

Swiss Plans to Join Refugee Group by March

Geneva (AP)—The Swiss Federal Council has announced that Switzerland, which is not a member of the United Nations, will enter the International Refugee Organization in the near future.

Switzerland, it is understood, will make part of her contribution to I.R.O. through services to refugees now in Switzerland and the rest of it in money. Her total share is approximately $1,500,000.

Switzerland already is a member of the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization, The World Health Organization and the Food and Agricultural Organization.

Swiss officials said they hoped formalities would be concluded so that Switzerland could have a representative at the second general I.R.O. council here in March.

Pope to Create New Cardinals To Fill Vacancies

Vatican City, Feb. 17 (AP)—Recurrent reports that Pope Pius XII will create new cardinals to fill 14 vacancies in the sacred college were revived today by news of a secret consistory to be held next month.

Vatican sources said the consistory will be convoked to get final approval of the cardinals on the proposed canonization of Jean de Lestonnac, French founder of the Daughters of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and Marin Giuseppe Rossello, Italian founder of the Daughters of Our Lady of Mercy.

Some Vatican sources thought the pontiff might take this occasion to present new nominations to the college—the first step before their publication in the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano and summoning of the prelates to the consistory to get their red hats.

There are now 56 cardinals, including Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, under sentence of life imprisonment by a Hungarian court. Fourteen cardinals have died since January 1946. Thirty-seven have died in the 10-year reign of the present pope.

Three years ago tomorrow, the pontiff created 32 new cardinals to build up the membership of the college, which then had failed to a record low of 38.

If the pope should present nominations for the college next month, Vatican sources say it would be possible to hold a cardinalitial consistory at Easter time, April 17. The Vatican sources also point to the fact that the pontiff's own golden jubilee as a priest is April 2.

and here's why!

ONE TRIP TO THE STORE BUYS TWO POUNDS OF NUCOA - AND THERE'S VALUABLE CHANGE LEFT FROM YOUR DOLLAR!

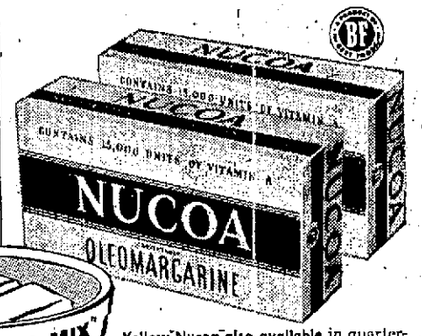

Right! Nucoa's a real boon these days when the cost of living is sky-high . . . And aren't you glad that—when you buy this quality margarine—there's no extra cost tacked on for a "squeeze bag"!

Will Resume Talks

New York, Feb. [illegible] (AP)—At the request of Mayor William O'Dwyer, utility leaders have agreed to resume negotiations in an effort to prevent a paralyzing strike of 28,000 Consolidated Edison Co. employes. The company supplies gas and electricity in Manhattan, Queens, the Bronx, part of Brooklyn, and all of Westchester county, and provides power for large segments of rail and subway lines in the area. The C.I.O. Utility Workers Union, which had indicated a strike might be called March 1, agreed yesterday to resume negotiations after the mayor said a walkout would seriously affect the city.

Meat Problem Studied By Polish Authorities

Warsaw, Poland (AP)—The Polish government plans to buy 1,125,000 hogs from owners of small and medium farms this year to increase the flow of meat supplies to city and town markets.

Poles for the last several weeks have been complaining about "meat shortages". The government says there is no shortage and contends the lack of supplies in some districts is due solely to "faulty distribution".

Nevertheless, Polish housewives still stand for hours in long queues from dawn until late morning to buy meats in Warsaw butcher shops.

The economic committee of the council of ministers said $13,000,000 would be spent in 1949 for the improvement of cattle breeding.

SRO Crowd Expected at Kingston-Newburgh Duel

Classic Battle Expected Friday On Local Court

They say there is no rest for the weary—and even less for Kingston High's bedraggled but triumphant basketball squad.

All the Kiasmen have to do Friday night is face a thoroughly rested, revenge-maddened Newburgh Academy quintet that almost toppled them in their first meeting in the Hilly City.

Seek 30th DUSO Win

The Maroons will be seeking their 30th consecutive DUSO victory and their 21st straight home conquest in Friday's battle which is expected to attract another SRO crowd.

Kingston hasn't been beaten on the home floor or dropped a DUSO contest since Middletown High turned the trick early in the 1946-47 season.

A happy combination of circumstances would be a Kingston win over Newburgh, while Port Jervis upsets Middletown on the Middle boards. It's even money, take your pick, in either case. Predicting the results of DUSO games is a hazardous occupation these days—and it doesn't pay any money.

Kingston Tired

Kingston High looked tired in the closing minutes against Port Jervis. They can ill afford any kind of letdown against the super-charged Academians who need this victory to escape utter disgrace this season. Not to mention the sting of "Bo" Gill's pen.

Since they blew the first game against the Kiasmen in the last four minutes of play, the Academians have blown alternately hot and cold. They trounced Monticello and Liberty by overwhelming margins and then played like stumblebums in other games. A hard crew to predict, everything depends on their mental condition.

N.F.A. has a group of stellar players in Jay Hodges, Dick Tyler, Warren Eggleston, Art Zodikoff and a flock of others. Not a creampuff in the crowd. If they have a hand, they'll return to Newburgh with something to crow about.

Gardner Posts Tournament Win

Ralph Gardner turned in his first victory in two years of tournament play Wednesday night by defeating Frank Schilling, 127-117, in the city pocket billiard tournament at Nick Kaslich's Billiard Parlors, Wall street.

Friday night's match between Bob East and Stan Warren has been shoved ahead to tonight due to the Kingston-Newburgh basketball game. Tonight's match will start at 7:30 p. m.

Kingston High A.A. Banquet Saturday Features Nat Holman, Cage Great

Ticket reservations for the annual Kingston High School Athletic Association's banquet indicate that a record crowd will hear Nat Holman, famous CCNY basketball coach, Saturday night at the MJM gym.

Coach G. Warren Kias, in charge of ticket reservations, says there has been a steady demand for ducats by persons who wish to hear one of the outstanding coaches in collegiate basketball.

Several of the old time fans of the "Pop" Morgenweck era are expected to be in the audience. They remember Holman from his Original Celtic days.

Cross Country Trek

The suave, debonair Beaver mentor recently led the CCNY squad on a cross country trek to California. He is expected to devote most of his speech to a comparison of eastern, midwestern and Pacific coast basketball, with particular emphasis on the officiating.

An outspoken foe of sectional interpretation of basketball rules, Holman will probably have much to say on this highly controversial item.

The annual dinner has featured a series of nationally famous athletic coaches but few have the local appeal of Holman. This, in part, accounts for the heavy ticket demand.

All high school athletes will be guests of the K.H.S. A.A. at the dinner.

Hamilton College Drops Five From Ice Squad

Clinton, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—The captain and four other Hamilton College hockey players have been dropped from the squad because, Coach Gregory Batt said, they broke training rules.

The team, which hasn't won a game in six intercollegiate starts this season, lost its entire forward line consisting of Capt. Richard Burns of Clinton, Charles Beeching of Rome and William Vonphurn of Belmont, Mass. In addition, first string Goalie Jerome Steinger of Larchmont, N. Y., and second-string Defenseman Louis Sage of Buffalo were dropped.

Batt, who announced the dismissal last night, said the five players broke training rules before a game last Saturday against Victoria University.

Hurley Juniors Rout High Falls, 50-35

Hurley Juniors romped over the High Falls Jayvees, 50-35, Tuesday night in Hurley. The win was the second of the week for Hurley which routed Stone Ridge, 92-36 on Monday.

Tom Hickey led the winners with 20 points. E. Campbell was high for High Falls with 14.

The score:

Hurley Juniors (50)—Schenck f 12, J. Hickey f 6, T. Hickey c 20, Laware g 10, Browne g 2.

High Falls Jayvees (35)—H. Turner f 4, K. Smith f, L. Coddington f 4, G. Campbell c 8, E. Nagles g 4, E. Campbell g 14, G. Smith g 1.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

• Is There No End to This?

The municipal auditorium will be no sanctuary for weak hearts Friday night, when that bold band of basketeers from Newburgh Academy comes to town on a mission of revenge. If your ticker is fragile stay home.

And then we'll have "Bo" Gill, too. We hope "Bo" shows up. We'd hate to see him miss the "Great Kill," if it's ordained that N.F.A. is to humble K.H.S. It's very definitely within the realm of possibility.

N.F.A. has been blowing hot and cold since the Kingston debacle on their home boards. They're supposed to be "cold" Friday night. But don't mortgage the family home on it. They'll be tough and rugged.

When Sam "Huddle" Kalloch and his Poughkeepsie Blues visited Kingston a few weeks ago, the atmosphere at the auditorium was so supercharged you could cut the tension with a knife. A hairpin will do it this time.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

If Coach G. Warren Kias holds up through the remainder of the season, we suggest he be checked by a group of pyschiatrists to see what keeps the man from a straitjacket. The first annual Delaware county all-star basketball game will be played in Roxbury on Feb. 24. Ulster county hunters paid $190 for fish and game violations in December. We hope you weren't on the list. . . . Eddie Gottlieb, famed coach of the Philadelphia Warriors in the B.A.A. and a familiar figure with the Sphas and Hebrews in the pre-war period, believes that the cure for referee trouble in basketball may lie in attracting more former star players into officiating. I'll admit it's a tough lodge to crack," says Gottlieb "but the good men wouldn't have any trouble making the grade."

• Modern Style Is the Best:

Together with Alex Gerlak, the Twaalfskill Golf Club professional we got a taste of Siena College's vaunted defensive basbetball technique last Saturday night in Albany. Later a wag remarked that Roy Rogers was in town that same night. We appear to have been guilty of an error in judgment.

Anyhow, Siena looks very impressive if you like your basketball in the old professional format. Purists tell you it's the real basketball. Jimmy Powers keeps harping for a return of that style, but after you've had your fill of firehouse basketball, it's hard to go back to the old type of game.

• Need Good Set Shooters:

Siena uses the criss-cross passing technique, shaking men loose for set shots that never materialize. They don't have a good outside shooter on the squad. But they keep winning by breathtaking low totals. Oklahoma A.&M. is the only big time school that has been able to cash in on that style of play. It gets good results in the percentage column but lacks crowd appeal. Siena is bidding for big time recognition but it will be a slow process because out of town teams won't book them while they play up to the purists.

• The System Pays Off:

The small college at Loudonville, just north of Albany, has won 91 games and lost 52 since it started intercollegiate basketball in 1937-38. Under Coach Danny Cunha, a prominent upstate athlete, they boasted a 47-23 record for the last four seasons.

This season Coach Cunha's charges are going even better. In 18 games, including meetings with Lafayette, Arkansas State, St. Francis, Niagara, Detroit, Texas A.&M., Loyola of Baltimore, Manhattan and Fordham, Siena has limited the opposition to an average of 40.8 points. In these days of 80-point totals, that's a minor miracle.

Siena is the best defensive basketball team in the East. True, they can't compare with the Oklahoma Aggies—Hank Iba's crew is in a class by itself—but they rate a lot of plaudits along the basketball trail. But we doubt if that's the style that will earn Siena national recognition.

As the editorial room wit remarked, and he's right half of the time; Those close wins hurt the other DUSO schools more than they scare K.H.S.. We wonder!

Reading Keglers Post New Record; Roll Lowest Doubles in Modern ABC

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 17 (AP)—A new kind of modern bowling record was entered in the books of the American Bowling Congress here late yesterday when a pair of Reading, Pa., bowlers finished their doubles event in the 46th annual A.B.C. tournament at Convention Hall.

Lawrence Mouse and Luther Wildermuth have the dubious distinction of having rolled the lowest doubles score in modern A.B.C. tournaments and the second lowest score in the 46-year history of the organization. They had a three game aggregate total of 680.

Record books of the A.B.C. show that only once before has a team ever rolled a lower score. A pair of Chicagoans named Garrity and Williams hit 679 at the Peoria tournament in 1915.

The entire day and nights shooting failed to produce one change among the first place holders in the team, doubles, singles and all-events.

Al's Bowl-o-drome, of Lodi, N. J., rolled into third place in the team event with a 2833 total, which is far removed from the 3476 total they rolled in league competition this season for the nation's top score.

In another minor change John Gaydos, of Bayonne, N. J., took fourth place in the singles with a 662 score.

Singles

Emanuel Weimar, Philadelphia, 688.

Hank Lauman, Los Angeles, 687.

George Foster, Chicago, 666.

John Gaydos, Bayonne, N. J., 662.

Ed Bennett, Pleasantville, N. J., 649.

Salvation Army '5' Cops Senior Title With 52 to 37 Win

The Salvation Army cagers made it two in a row over St. Peter's Wednesday night by 52 to 37 at the Myron J. Michael School gym thereby clinching the championship of the senior Church League. The S.A.s dumped the Saints in the first game of the playoffs Monday night by 50 to 33.

Harry Van Wagenen and Frank "Specs" Ebelheiser were the main sparkplugs in last night's vital conquest. The former led the scoring parade with a neat job of bucketing 26 points. Ebelheiser, who scored 20 points in Monday's playoff tilt, played a sizzling game with some nifty passing.

Eight Point Edge

The winners jumped off to a 26 to 18 edge at halftime but managed to take a very commanding lead in the final two periods of play with Van Wagenen finding the range with ease. In all, Van Wagenen flipped in 13 fields for his 26 markers. All of the Salvation Army's points came from scrimmage.

Vince Peck, forward for the Saints, topped his club in the scoring department with 18 points. J. Smith followed with 14.

Button Eyes Final Clincher of Crown

Paris, Feb. 17 (AP)—Young Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., will try to put the finishing touches on his second straight title and the ladies go through their first exercises tonight in the world figure skating championships.

Button needs only a creditable showing in the free skating maneuvers to clinch the men's crown.

He is at his best in the free-style events. It was overwhelming superiority in this specialty that won him the world and Olympic championships last year.

The 19-year-old Harvard freshman took a commanding lead in the compulsory figures skating—the first phase of the competition—yesterday. He scored 638.1 points in unofficial tabulations against 625.6 for Edi Rada of Austria, the European champion, and 623.1 for Ede Kiraly of Hungary.

Austria's Eva Pawlick, a refugee from a hospital bed, is the heavy favorite to win the women's crown taken last year by Barbara Ann Scott of Canada, now a professional.

The woman skate compulsory figures tonight and engage in the free skating tomorrow night.

The United States' chief hope is Yvonne Sherman of New York, sixth in last year's meet, but she is conceded little chance against the graceful Vienna coed.

Top Trotters Named For Grand Circuit Racing at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—Saratoga Raceway dipped into the top drawer of harness horses today in announcing the fields for its free-for-all classics in next summer's grand circuit racing.

Nine of the fastest trotters in the nation are entered in the $10,000 Arden trot carded for July 21.

They include Rodney, voted the harness horse of the year in 1948; Demon Hanover, 1948 Hambletonian winner, and Proximity, greatest money winning trotter of this century, with more than $101,000 in her bank book.

Eleven standout pacers will go the following night in the Empire State pace, another $10,000 event. Prospective starters include Forbes Chief, Dr. Stanton and Goode Bay.

Proximity and Forbes Chief will be defending laurels won in these two events last year, but each will face much stiffer competition.

Rodney, not entered last year, ticked off a mile in 1:58 on three different occasions in the 1948 campaign, while Demon Hanover has been lopping fractions off his mark steadily in the hands of his owner and amateur driver, Harrison Hoyt of Bethel, Conn.

Others In Field

Other top-notchers entered for the Arden include Chris Spencer, Sidney Hanover, Onolee Hanover, Frontiersman, Way Yonder and Vita Lee.

Forbes Chief is slated to go against last year's top money winner in pacing, Dr. Stanton and Goose Bay, whose lifetime earnings of $96,216 are the best among current pacers. In addition the entry list includes Poplar Byrd, Grattan McKlyn, Jerry the First, Dewey Abee, Hayes Hanover, Red Streak, Gene Abbe and Friscoway.

Six of the performers named for the two races have turned in better than two-minute miles, while four are within two-fifths of a second of the charmed figure.

If any are unable to start, there are 44 others eligible for the Arden and 34 more for the Empire, Racing Secretary Frank Woodland said.

Gentile Wins Opener

Veteran Tony Gentile jumped off to an opening match game win over Harold Quick, Wednesday night, at Chris Rienzo's Billard Parlor, Downs street, with a 128 to 96 victory. Last night's match was the first in a series of four 125-point block matches of a 500-point challenge match.

New York (Manhattan Center) —Chuck Taylor, 145½, Coalport, Pa., outpointed Al Hersh, 147, New York, 10.

Miami, Fla. — Bobby Dykes, 148¾, San Antonio, stopped Billy Kearns, 145, Hartford, Conn. 10.

Bowling Scores

Tess Moss, finding the range for a neat 219 singleton in her middle game, fired a hefty 550 triple to lead the pack in the Colonial Women's League Wednesday night at the Central Recreation drives. Mrs. Moss opened with a 148 game, then posted 219 and wound up with a good 183 clincher as her club, the Safford and Scudder keglerettes, took three in a row from Sportsmen's Park.

Mrs. Moss' top triple of the night just shaded a 549 series turned in by Evelyn Francis who seems to have hit her stride in the last few weeks of bowling competition. Mrs. Francis opened fast with 210 and came back with counts of 158 and 181 to wind up a good night.

Elsewhere in the circuit, notable efforts were turned in by Evelyn Dolson who clubbed 194—544; Betty Bailey 224—536; Bea Barley a consistent string of 178-178-178 for 534 (no blind either); Betty Bruck 178—512; Marge Van Alstyne 201—511; Chris Wilson 194—506; and Charlotte Lapine 177—500.

Reta Frederick missed the select circle with 182—499. Still other good scores came from Marie Koenig with 201—494; Bev Marcle 173—491; and H. Murphy 169—491.

K.H.S.-Middies Play Monday

Next Tuesday's vital tilt between Kingston and Middletown has been shoved ahead to Monday at Middletown, Coach G. Warren Kias revealed today.

The shift in the game was requested by Middletown authorities in regard to the school holiday on Tuesday, Washington's Birthday.

Although the local cagers are thinking entirely of one game at a time, especially Friday night's home engagement against Newburgh Free Academy, next Monday's league encounter may go a long way in determining the second half DUSO championship.

Kingston turned back the Middies in Kingston on January 21 by 53 to 45 for its 43rd straight victory. The win also sewed up the first half championship for the Kiasmen.

K.B.A. Extends Deadline For Annual Team Events

Magnino Nominated For Presidency

The deadline for team events in the 13th annual Kingston Bowling Association tournament has been extended from Sunday, February 20, until Sunday, February 27, it was announced during the regular monthly meeting of the K.B.A. Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A.

This year's tournament will be held on the week-end of March 19-20 at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium on Grand street. The tournament was awarded to the Ruzzo establishment during the December meeting when bids were considered from the Bowlatorium and the Central Recreations.

According to information released at Wednesday's session, 25 teams have been entered so far for this year's competition. With the deadline extended, a considerable boost in entries is expected by the tournament committee.

At last night's meeting, the nominating committee also reported a nominating slate of officers for the April elections:

Those named were as follows:

President—Joseph Magnino.

First vice-president—Mitzie Arlensky.

Second vice-president — Bob Hanley.

Third vice-president—Herb Van Deusen.

Royall Says U. S. Would Not Yield Japan to Russia

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The United States doesn't intend to abandon Japan to Russia in case war should come, Secretary of the Army Royall says.

He made his point clear yesterday in a news conference at which he flatly denied ever having said otherwise.

When Royall visited Japan recently he held a conference with reporters. Later, stories from Tokyo—not carried by the Associated Press—quoted a high level authority, since identified as Royall, as saying American forces would pull out of Japan in the event of an attack.

The secretary told reporters at the Pentagon he had said no such thing.

"On the contrary," he said, "I stated that we did not plan to change our forces in Japan and that we were prepared to meet all new comers."

A.P. Reporter Russell Brines, who attended the Tokyo conference, said Royall told newsmen there that, hypothetically, the United States was entitled to withdraw from Japan any time it wanted to. However, Brines added, "he said many times there would be no immediate change in the occupation."

At no time, the A.P. reporter said, did Royall or any other high American official give any indication that the United States actually was considering withdrawal from the occupied nation.

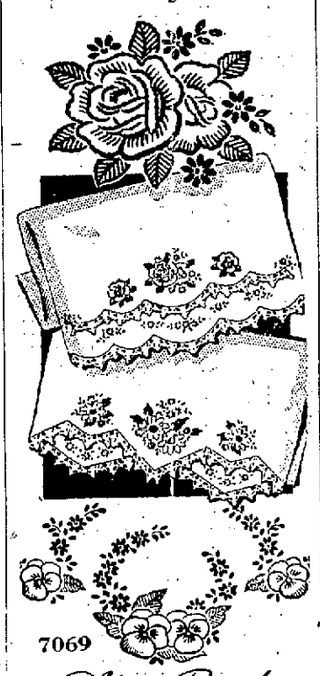

The one fundamental point raised, Brines said, was whether the United States had any obligation to defend the former enemy country. Royall said no. General MacArthur had previously said yes.

Secretary of State Acheson also told reporters yesterday that there has been no change in American occupation plans for Japan.

believe the Philadelphia Transportation Company has acted in bad faith. * * * we intend to continue this strike indefinitely."

Speaking for the company's negotiating committee, William C. MacReynolds said "the company's position remains the same, the offer on the wage scale being three cents (an hour) and the union insisting on 17."

Spokesmen for both the T.W.U. and the A.F.L.-Taxi Drivers Union denied any knowledge of yesterday's flareups in which three motorists were attacked after being accused of hauling passengers for pay. All three drivers denied they had accepted fares.

One of the trio, 33-year-old Clair Reed, told detectives that after he picked up a load of sailors and took them to the naval base, he was overtaken by two carloads of men.

An object was thrown through the car window, detectives said, striking Reed in the eye. Reed faces the loss of his sight.

The other two incidents occurred, detectives said, when gangs pulled James Jackson, 39, and Emanuel A. Taylor, 30 from their cars, stoned and beat them. Neither was badly injured.

A special squad of 100 detectives augmented by uniformed policeman was placed on roving duty last night.

The transit strike started Friday. The cab strike started Tuesday.

All Are Rescued

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Three men and a dog were rescued today after a launch sank near the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. Earlier, police had reported it was a tug which sank at the scene. A tug nearby picked up the three men and a dog who had taken to a dory as the launch sank. All the rescued were put ashore.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps and the French Finance Minister, Maurice Petsche, began yesterday a series of talks on the matter.

Commenting on the establishment of the executive committee, Count Carlo Sforza, Italian Foreign Minister, told a luncheon meeting of the Anglo-American Press Club that "this morning we have in a very modest and simple fashion created a European government."

Referring to the provision that the council continue cooperating in economic matters even after Marshall plan aid ends in 1952, Count Sforza said that "by this act of good will," the ministers corrected the chief error of the 19th century, the rise of nationalism.

"Now with the historical fact which will be known in the future as the Marshall Plan, the independence of peoples must be substituted by interdependence," he said. "What we are now doing at the O.E.E.C. with little publicity we will one day do in the European Union on perhaps a less practical basis, but with far more glamor."

W. Averell Harriman, roving ambassador for the U. S. Economic Administration, sat in on the morning O.E.E.C. session, along with a group of American experts.

Bargaining Is Asked

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Foreman's Association of America today asked Congress to require employers to bargain collectively with foremen. Carl Brown, the association president, made the appeal in a statement prepared for the Senate Labor Committee. The committee late yesterday was asked by the Ford Motor Company to keep on the books a Taft-Hartley law provision which, while not barring the formation of foremen's unions, denies to such groups the collective bargaining rights granted to other unions.

Two Zionists Resign

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—A dispute over the conduct of fund raising to aid Israel has led to the resignation of two top American Zionists from the world's highest Zionist Council, the Jewish Agency Executive. They are Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, head of the American section of the Jewish agency, and Dr. Emanuel Neumann, president of the Zionist Organization of America. They withdrew yesterday from the executive in a protest against the reelection of former U. S. Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as the 1949 chairman of the United Jewish Appeal and Henry Montor as its executive secretary.

One-Piece Hearing Aid

News of interest for the severely deafened comes with the announcement of a new hearing aid. This new instrument for the first time employs 45 volts of power in a "one-piece" chassis through the use of two small 22½ volt hearing aid batteries. According to Mrs. H. F. Wescott, Microtone distributor in this city, the new model will enable many deafened persons to use a one-piece hearing aid who previously had to wear two piece aids with separate battery packs.

Public Hearing

The Laws and Rules Committee of the Common Council will hold a public hearing in the council chamber, city hall, at 7:30 p. m., Feb. 23, on the application of Alexander W. Embree for an amendment to the zoning ordinance. It is sought to designate a property at 521-539 Albany avenue (excepting 535) as in the business area.

Bungalow Burns at Rosendale

Firemen from Rosendale and Binnewater try to save three-room bungalow of Mrs. Lydia Ritz, Rosendale Heights, but flames, presumably caused by overheated wood stove, had gained too much headway before their arrival. The fire broke out Wednesday morning about 10:30 while she was away at work. Interior of the bungalow and its contents were a total loss. (Roosa Photo)

Bulgarian Trials To Open Feb. 25

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 17 (AP)—Bulgaria has set February 25 as the date for the trial of 15 Protestant leaders on charges of treason, spying and illegal foreign exchange dealings.

The indictment of the 15 was announced a week ago, just after the trial in Hungary of the Roman Catholic, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, on similar charges. Some, if not all, have been under arrest for more than a month on charges of spying for Britain and the United States.

The defendants are members of the United Evangelical Church which includes the Methodist, Baptist, Congregational and Pentecost denominations.

The four most prominent are Vassil Zlapkov, head of the Congregationalists; Yanko Ivanov, supervisor of the Methodist Churches in Bulgaria, Nikola Mihailov, head of the Baptists, and Georgi Chernev, head of the Pentecosts. All are members of the Supreme Council of the Evangelical Churches.

The other eleven are Protestant clergymen administering to Bulgaria's 8,000 Protestants.

The indictment charged that the accused had been in touch with 12 British and American church leaders and officials who were declared to be agents of "foreign intelligence and representatives of international reaction."

Details Not Announced

Details of the charges against the 15 defendants have not been announced. The indictment accused them of organizing a spy network, gathering economic, military and political information and delivering it to foreign agents, and spreading rumors of war and atomic bomb attacks.

Some were alleged to have had contacts with the peasant party leader, Nikola Petkov, executed in September, 1947 on charges of plotting to overthrow the government, and with Georgi Dimitrov, another opposition leader now in the United States. He is not related to Communist Premier Georgi Dimitrov.

Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Topencharov has promised that the trial would be in a regular Sofia District Court and would be public.

He also announced that two or three other trials of clergymen would be held in provincial courts.

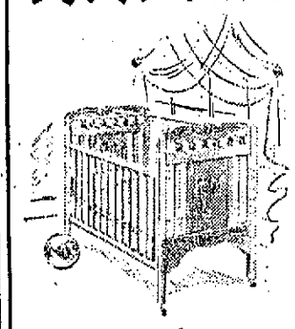

(A report delivered to the Associated Press in New York Tuesday by a responsible person just returned from Europe said between 30 and 40 pastors of the United Evangelical Church have been imprisoned. The informant, who would not permit use of his name or position, said he was given information by reliable sources that a program of "outright persecution" of Protestants in Bulgaria began in January, last year, as the result of secret Communist orders. He said the government in a letter to church leaders ordered them not to criticise the government and to counteract from the pulpit anti-Communist and anti-Russian propaganda.

(The Bulgarian clergy, both of the predominant Greek Orthodox Church and of other religious bodies, is paid by the state.)
